3 Dead In Portsmouth 'Jealousy' Shooting

Over the Side . . . . .

Pulling Away . . . . . .

Aboard Rescue Ship . . . . .

Here is three dramatic pictures of a colorful war episode—the scuttling and burning of the Nazi liner, Columbus. At the top, seamen scramble down ladders to lifeboats after opening the seacocks and setting the ship afire. Center, they pull away from the doomed vessel. Bottom, they are taken aboard the U. S. S. Tuscaloosa.

CHILDREN HEAR GUNFIRE

Find Bodies Near Auto Loaded With Christmas Presents for Youngsters.

(By Associated Press)

PORTSMOUTH—A jealous relative was blamed today for the rifle slaying of three persons that made orphans of two small children on the eve of Christmas.

James Ruby, 38-year-old oil well driller, and his wife, Lillian, 31, were shot down as they unloaded Christmas gifts from an automobile last night for their children, Ronald, 10, and Gary, 3.

Shortly afterward, James' nephew, Cecil Ruby, 21, was found wounded nearby. He died early today and Coroner J. D. Rose returned a verdict of double murder and suicide.

Sheriff Earl Brandle said Cecil's brothers, Carl and Vernon, told him that Cecil was enamored of Mrs. Ruby and previously had threatened her life.

Shot In Temple.

Cecil opened fire on his uncle as the latter started to remove packages from the rear of the machine, striking him in the temple.

He then shot Mrs. Ruby in the chest, leg and shoulder. Her body was found in front of the automobile.

Cecil then ran to his home and shot himself, after obtaining more ammunition.

Cecil's sister, Doris, 14, and Lillian's sister, Mrs. Vernon Ruby, who were staying with the children, told of hearing four shots and finding the bodies.

Carl and Vernon, attracted to the scene by the shots, were quoted by Brandle as saying they saw Cecil running through a field with a rifle.

Winter's Here And Maybe We'll Have White Christmas

Amid bright, snappy weather, winter arrived officially at 1:06 p. m. today, and its arrival must have put ideas in the weatherman's head for he predicted snow tomorrow night and a white Christmas.

It will be fair and colder tonight, the forecast said, with cloudiness, rising temperatures and snow due Saturday.

Today's typical bright winter weather followed a pint-size blizzard which brought less than a half inch of snow last night. The mercury this morning dropped to 18 degrees and the average reading for the past 24 hours was six degrees below normal.

Today was the shortest day of the year with only nine hours and 12 minutes of daylight. The sun rose at 7:50 a. m. and is due to set at 4:30 p. m. When winter arrived this afternoon it marked the most southerly point the sun will reach during the year.

Budding O. Henrys Win Awards

Shown above is John Billingsly, whose unusual short story "$500" won him one of the two first prizes awarded in the literary prose contest which was conducted by the Hyphonerian, Senior High school paper. Below is Frederick Morey, the other first prize winner, who combined imagination and writing ability in a short story entitled "A German Beggar."

INDICT 3 FIRMS

General Electric, Westinghouse Distributors Face Charges.

DETROIT — (AP) — A special grand jury today indicted the three largest corporations in the United States engaged in distribution and sale of electrical supplies along with 10 Detroit wholesale houses and 19 individuals on a charge of conspiracy to violate the anti-trust laws through price fixing.

The national corporations named were the General Electric Supply company, Schenectady, N. Y., distributing agency for the General Electric corporation; Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company, of East Pittsburgh, Pa., and the Graybar Electric company, of New York, an independent distributing agency since it was divorced from the American Telephone and Telegraph company holding company setup.

STUDENTS SHOW WRITING ABILITY

Senior High Sophomore and Junior Win Recognition in Literary Contest.

Two fiction stories of more than average merit and showing genuine writing ability, today won first prizes for two Senior high school boys in the literary prose contest which was conducted by the Hyphonerian, school paper.

First prizes, which were a year's subscription to Story magazine, were won by Frederick Morey, a sophomore, and John Billingsly, a junior. Three other contestants received "honorable mention" in the contest. They were Pauline Yeager, Valeria Fuderer and Doris Meeker.

The contest was open to any high school student, except members of the school paper's staff. Thelma Peterson, feature editor of the paper, was in charge of the contest. Writers could use fictional or factual themes.

Judges were Jane Williams, chairman; Katharine Hartman and William Oberlin.

All of the entries showed writing talent and imagination and some were exceptional both in theme and handling.

Of Billingsly's story which was entitled "$500," the judges said it was a piece "of exceptionally good fiction and indicates that the writer has genuine ability both in plot con-

BARES KIDNAP BILLS AGAINST 2 HELD IN JAIL

Marriott Reveals Indictments After Pair Pleads Innocent to Other Charges.

2 OTHERS PLEAD GUILTY

Man Accused of Assaulting Girl Sent to Pen; Offer to Wed Girl Scorned.

Secret indictments for kidnaping against George Call, accused Sharon township child molester, and Earl Montgomery of Zanesville, who allegedly aided in abducting and robbing a Mansfield man were revealed today by Prosecutor G. W. Marriott after the pair pleaded innocent to other open indictments in common pleas court.

Call and Montgomery were arraigned before Judge C. H. Huston this morning with four others named in indictments. Four of the six leaded innocent and two pleaded guilty. One man was sentenced to the penitentiary on his plea of guilty to an indictment for rape. Sentence on the other guilty plea was deferred.

Montgomery was served immediately with the indictment for kidnaping which the prosecutor said he had not intended to use if Montgomery had admitted an armed robbery charge.

Delays Serving Charge.

Call, indicted openly by the grand jury for rape and attempted rape, pleaded innocent to both charges. Marriott said he would not be served immediately with a copy of the kidnaping indictment which grew out of Call's alleged abduction and assault of a 14-year-old Bellville school girl several weeks ago.

The prosecutor said Call will be tried on the indictments for rape and intended rape and possibly on the kidnaping charge if he denies it. The court will appoint counsel for both Montgomery and Call.

Sentence Deferred.

George Fancher, Mansfield, arraigned with Montgomery on an armed robbery indictment, pleaded guilty but asked the court to defer sentence at least a week. Judge Huston said he would not be sentenced until Montgomery is tried since both were involved in the same case.

They were accused of forcing Harold J. Stauffer, Mansfield, to drive to a lonely spot near Bucyrus where they robbed him of a small amount of cash and took his

HANES QUITS

Roosevelt Accepts Resignation of Treasury Undersecretary.

WASHINGTON —(INS)— President Roosevelt today received and accepted the resignation of Undersecretary of the Treasury John W. Hanes, effective January 1.

The White House made public a letter from Hanes advising Mr. Roosevelt that he had decided the time has come "when I must now carry out my intention to leave the public service and reutrn to private business."

The president, in reply, expressed his "deep and sincere gratitude for the conscientious, loyal and able service," which he said Hanes has rendered the government.

Retreat Called Close to Stage Of Catastrophe

Thousands of Russians Reported Dead As Result of Bitter Arctic Cold; Hard-Fighting Finns Press Foes In Mass Exodus; Red Ship Sunk.

BULLETIN

COPENHAGEN — (UP) — Scandinavian newspaper dispatches today reported sensational Finnish victories in the far north with some estimates that Russia's total casualties in the war were 30,000 dead.

(By Associated Press)

COPENHAGEN—Reports from Norwegian border points today described a Russian retreat in Arctic Finland as approaching the magnitude of a "catastrophe."

Watchers on the frontiers said the southernmost Russian Arctic forces now were in the vicinity of Salmijarvi, a point they were reported to have passed in their southward advance of the past week before the movement reversed.

The Arctic highway at that point swings eastward, and other reports said the main direction of the Russian retreat also was eastward—toward Kola, Russia, instead of northward toward the Finnish port of Petsamo.

Soviet transport ships, previously stationed at Petsamo when the Arctic push began more than three weeks ago, were said now to have departed.

The weather was calm and clear but the extreme cold continued. Retreating troops observed from the frontier seemed to be trying to keep warm.

Motorized troops rode in lorries for a short distance, then jumped off and ran for a while for warmth.

It was considered significant that no southward-moving supply trucks had been observed in the last two days nor any other indication of food or munitions arriving from the north.

Inhabitants who were familiar with the bitter cold of this region said they believed that thousands of Russians had perished.

Reports reaching here by way of Sweden said the Russians had attempted to bomb the Finnish munitions works at Tampere, north of Helsinki, yesterday. The newspaper National Tidende said that three persons were killed and five wounded in two raids on the city. Other reports said two houses were set afire, five persons died and two Russian planes were shot down.

The Finnish communique did not mention Tampere and it was not learned officially whether the munitions plant was damaged.

Dispatches from the Salmijarvi nickel mining region said a large scale Red army retreat was under way but whether this was a tactical move or a military triumph

PARISIANS DIE AS BRIDGE FALLS

Structure Over Seine River Collapses, Pedestrians and Vehicles Plunge in.

(By Associated Press)

PARIS—Two persons are known to have been killed and at least three seriously injured today when the St. Louis bridge behind the famous cathedral of Notre Dame collapsed after a heavy barge knocked out its central arch.

The bridge connected two islands in the Seine river, the Ile St. Louis and the Ile De La Cite.

Police said a gas main exploded after the barge struck the bridge, plunging the structure with pedestrians and vehicles into the stream.

The bridge, which was built originally in 1627, disappeared completely into the river.

Gas pipes on either side of the river which were cut by the collapse burst into flame.

Preliminary investigation by the police was reported to have established that a barge carried by the current collided violently with the bridge's central arch and that an explosion then occurred.

Heavy forces of police and firemen were called to hold crowds behind police lines.

The old bridge was first known as the Pont Rouge (red bridge) when originally it was built of wood and painted red. Since then it has been rebuilt three times, the most recent in 1877. The collapsed structure was of stone.

'CAN MATINEES' END TOMORROW

Picture Of Old West Highlights Benefit Program At Park.

A rip-roaring picture of the Old West, when men were men and guns were always handy, will be shown at the Park theater at 9:30 a. m. tomorrow when the last of this year's free "can matinees" will be given.

Jack Randall, who fights and shoots with the best of the Western heroes, will hold the interest of youngsters in "Ghost Town." And in addition there is an hilarious comedy "Flat Foot Stooges" and a cartoon comedy.

Any youngster will be admitted who presents a can of fruit or vegetables. The canned goods will be used in the Christmas baskets for needy families and for the Christmas dinner given by the Volunteers of America for homeless men, and for families who do not get baskets.

Columbus Publishers Distribute $242,000 Among Employes.

COLUMBUS —(INS)— The Wolfe family, publishers of the Columbus Dispatch and the Ohio State Journal, today distributed $242,000 to their employes as Christmas bonuses. Besides employes on the two papers, workers in the family's banks, shoe company, radio station, and Agricultural Lands, Inc., shared in the distribution.

Reds Belittle Finn Claims of Advances.

MOSCOW —(INS)— Finnish claims of advances on three fronts were belittled by a Russian war communique today as mere "small skirmishes."

"Yesterday's operations," said the communique, "were chiefly patrol actions and small skirmishes.

"There was an intense artillery duel on the Karelian isthmus as well as air combats in which ten enemy planes were shot down."

It was notable that for the third successive day the communique failed to claim a Russian advance.

Nazi Planes Driven Off Again, British Say.

LONDON—(AP)—The air ministry announced today that German air raiders had appeared over the Firth of Forth in Scotland this morning and had been driven off by British fighting craft after a battle in which one German plane disappeared in a dive.

The Firth of Forth, on which the city of Edinburgh and the royal naval base are situated, has been the objective of German raiders several times during the war.

Earlier in the day an unidentified plane was fired on by British anti-aircraft guns over the Suffolk coast. No raid warning was given for this flight.

A British communique, issued orally, omitted the number of planes engaged and did not say whether bombs were dropped.

It Took Long Time But Chester Got His 200 Chinese Calendars

When Chester Wing, Chinese-American laundryman, 21 East Third street, gives out 200 calendars to patrons and friends this week, only Chester will know how costly they are.

The calendars were received yesterday afternoon after weeks of correspondence, considerable expenditures and a prolonged headache for Chester and his attorney.

The calendars were ordered months ago from a firm in Hong Kong, China. Wing paid $10 in Hong Kong money—$10 in American money for them and was to pay for shipment. The shipping charge came to $6, which made $16.

Several weeks ago he received a statement from the United States customs department, through a deputy collector at Akron, that a duty of $22.50 was due on the calendars. A cashier's check for the amount was sent.

Last week he received notice from the B. and O. railroad office at Akron that the merchandise was being held for carrying charges and storage and that if they weren't paid immediately the calendars would be sent back to the shipper in Hong Kong.

At his wits end, Chester hired an attorney. Which added more to the cost of the calendars. Telegrams and letters have been sent; the attorney pointed out the fact that the calendars were for the year 1940 and would they please send them before 1941 rolled around?

Wing refused to give up hope. Not only had they cost him a lot of money but they carried the picture of a very pretty Chinese girl.

The calendars arrived yesterday afternoon. As he passes them out, Chester will know that he's presenting a real gift.

Extra Gifts Due In Sunday Edition

The Best Christmas You Ever Had—

That's what we hope you'll have this year. We're planning to do our part by giving you a sparkling Christmas package in the form of a Sunday News-Journal holiday edition crammed with special features and picture displays.

Here's some of the attractions we have planned:

CHRISTMAS PARTIES: The News-Journal cameraman set a new record for attending Christmas parties and the pictures he took will be found attractively displayed.

NIGHT BEFORE CHRISTMAS: This complete story offers a brand new classic in Christmas fiction. You'll like this story of a doctor who wiped out bitterness and began a new life on Christmas eve.

CHRISTMAS DINNER: In addition to stories and pictures on holiday activities in Mansfield society, there are authoritative articles and features on preparing the Christmas dinner which every housewife will want to read.

YOUR GOVERNMENT: There's the third series of "Your Government" stories written by The News-Journal's courthouse reporter, Virgil Stanfield. Sunday's story tells of the work of the auditor's and treasurer's departments.

SPORTS PARADE: An unusual picture display with emphasis on Christmas in sportland and a Christmas treat in the form of a story suggesting Yule gifts for Mansfield sports figures.

PLUS, of course: All the Sunday News-Journal's regular features, columns and comics. Coverage of news events over the week-end will be as comprehensive as ever.

If you're not a regular subscriber place your order now for the holiday edition of The Sunday News-Journal by calling Canal 4251 or by telling the carrier boy in your neighborhood.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

THERE'S only one more shopping day left before Christmas, so the collegians who are returning home today and tomorrow will probably either have to have their Christmas shopping just about all finished up or depend on Santa himself to do it for them. . . . Anne Divelbiss, Margaret Maul, Mary Virginia Turner, William Long, Charles Ireland, Raymond Hainer, Albert Allen and Herbert Lawrence all arrived from Wooster college today. . . . Miami university students who came home this week include Eleanor Frasher, Ellen Cramer, Naomi Giffin, Frances Hanson, Ed Maxwell, Jack Snyder, Richard Grafmiller, Marion Southward, Wilton Morkel and David McGinty.

Four young girls returned from Joliet, Ill., this week, where they are students at the College of St. Francis—they're all visiting with their parents for the holiday season. . . . Constance Baxter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Baxter; Martha Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Alexander; Ann Teschler, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Teschler, and Mary Katherine Welsch, daughter of U. W. Welsch. . . . And from the sound of things, these girls must be pretty busy at the school with numerous club activities in addition to their studies—Constance, Martha and Mary Katherine all hold membership in the Sodality of Our Lady and the St. Francis club, while Ann, Mary Katherine and Martha are quite active in the Baconian club. . . . Ann and Mary Katherine also belong to the Glee club—and Mary Katherine finds time for a lot of sport activity through her membership in the Women's Athletic association.

Speaking of busy students—Steve Olin is undoubtedly one of the busiest of all. . . . He's been awarded a major letter in varsity football at DePauw university in Greencastle, Ind. (he was a reserve center this fall and participated in nearly every DePauw game), and last year he also won letters in football and baseball. . . . Steve, who's a junior at the school, is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, Xi Xi Xi, and the Chemistry club—oh yes, he's quite active in campus politics too. He's at home now, spending the Christmas holiday season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Olin.

* * *

OH, BUT THAT'S not all the collegians who are back for Christmas now—Elsie McConnell (who's a freshman at Randolph-Macon Woman's college in Lynchburg, Va.) will be here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul McConnell, until Jan. 3. . . . Jacques Burghard, a freshman at Ohio State university, stopped off here for a visit with her grandmother, Mrs. Lee Burghard, before going to his home in Bucyrus for the holidays. . . . John C. Jolliff, jr., who's in his first year at Concordia school in Ft. Wayne, Ind., now, is visiting here with his father, John C. Jolliff, and relatives in Wooster. . . . Virginia Rupp came down from Flora Stone Mather college of Western Reserve university in Cleveland to vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert E. Rupp. . . . While another Reserve student, Donald E. Smith (who's in the school of law there) will be in town only until next Tuesday, when he's leaving for Washington, D. C., to attend a meeting of the American Political Science association.

Yesterday was the day of days for Robert Coe, as he was graduated from Ohio State university with a degree in business—indeed a nice Christmas present for anyone! His parents, sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Coe, Eleanor and Roger, and another brother, Richard (who is also a student at State) were all present for the exercises—and they all returned home today for the holiday season.

THERE'S a little mystery of a bell, which Mrs. David N. Roller would appreciate having solved for her. . . . It all happened a number of weeks ago, when she was ill, and a friend (who knows her hobby for collecting bells) took one to her home—but while receiving the bell, the girl who answered the door had a phone and another door to answer, so in the confusion of it all, she forgot the name of the giver! Now this is a lovely bell from an old California mission, and Mrs. Roller would like to express her appreciation to the giver—but she can't learn his identity—she says that anyone who can solve this mystery will really give her the nicest Christmas present ever. . . . So won't somebody please 'fess up?

* * *

Have you seen Mr. and Mrs. Fred Caston's (she was formerly Mildred Taylor) Christmas cards? They have a cunning picture of their young daughter, Cynthia, on them—the Castons live in Cleveland now, you know. . . . And the Wilbur Upsons made some of their own Christmas cards this year—they bear a pencil sketch of their home, are signed with red and green lettering—and even have the paw mark of their dog on them!

* * *

FROM FOLKS HERE AND THERE: Mrs. Lorne Cook (the former Barbara Beer of this city, who now lives in Chicago, Ill.) has just been initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society—Barbara was graduated from the University of Chicago last summer, you know, and she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Beer—incidentally she and her husband will be here for the holidays. . . . Dr. Robert Angle (a former Mansfielder, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. John E. Angle) has just completed his interneship at Cook County hospital in Chicago—and he and his wife are leaving next Wednesday for Tucson, Ariz., where he will establish his medical practice. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Robert Quinn and their daughter, Nancy, of Birmingham, Ala., are arriving in town tomorrow afternoon to spend the Christmas holidays with Mrs. Quinn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. King. . . . Mrs. A. J. Stutz (perhaps better remembered as Mary Alice Kyle) and her young daughter, Julieanne, who will be eight weeks old on Christmas, have returned to their home in Huntington, W. Va., following an extended visit here with Mr. and Mrs. George C. Kyle. . . . Mr. and Mrs. James Jenkins have returned from Havana, Cuba, to spend the holidays in Mansfield and Marion—Mrs. Jenkins is the former Mary Foos. . . . Ed Chatlain will arrive in town tomorrow following a two weeks' tour of eastern colleges with the Wittenberg college varsity basketball team.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Kitchen Shower For Miss Kramer Held At Linhams

A kitchen shower was an event of yesterday evening for Miss Sarabell Kramer, bride-elect of John VanWagner of Shelby. The party was held at Mrs. Eugene Linham's home on Glenwood boulevard, and the associate hostesses were Miss Eleanor Clingan and Mrs. Norman E. Leonard.

The guests received individual corsages at the beginning of the evening, and bridge was in play at five tables. Score prizes were awarded to Miss Janet Olin and the honoree. Luncheon was served at the small tables following the games. Miss Kramer received a shower of gifts from the guests, and the hostesses gave her a lace tablecloth.

Next Wednesday evening Mr. VanWagner's mother and sister, Mrs. Roy VanWagner and Miss Alice VanWagner, will entertain for Miss Kramer at their home in Shelby. Miss VanWagner, Miss Olin and Miss Emily Burns will be the bride's attendants when the wedding is solemnized at the First Presbyterian church at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of Jan. 1.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Myers, 113½ West Third street, announced the marriage of their daughter, Caroline Isabel, today to Damon M. Zellner, son of Mrs. Edith Zellner, 264 Glessner avenue. The ceremony was performed June 3 at Greenup, Ky. They were unattended, and Rev. L. F. Lacks read the service. Both attended Mansfield Senior high school. Mr. Zellner is employed as a gas station attendant. They will make their home at the Glessner avenue address.

* * *

SING CAROLS.

Members of Circle Six of the First Methodist church sang carols yesterday at the home of Mrs. Della Richardson, Penn avenue, when Mrs. Nettie Pittinger assisted. Mrs. Olan LaRue gave the Christmas story, and devotions were led by Mrs. Howard Miller. The circle arranged to serve two dinners at the church next month, and a gift exchange was followed by the serving of refreshments. The next meeting will be held Jan. 18 at the home of Mrs. W. W. Purdy, Park avenue west.

St. Paul Group Has Holiday Dinner In Church Parlors

A covered-dish dinner served at 6:30 p. m. was a feature of the Christmas party held last night by members of the St. Paul Thursday Nighters when they met in the church parlors. Small Christmas trees and red, white and blue tapers decorated the tables and the room. Arrangements were made by Mr. and Mrs. Don Borchardt and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huck.

Christmas songs were sung by Miss Jane Weuthrick, Lawrence Chamberlain, Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Gilbert, after which Rev. Gilbert gave the Van Dyke story, "The Other Wise Man." Carols were sung with Miss Louise Seybold as accompanist.

Contests followed, and a shower of gifts for the newly furnished nursery at the church was presented. The January meeting will be another covered-dish dinner at 6:30 p. m. Jan. 18. Arrangements are in charge of the Misses Elizabeth Bollman and Alice Miller, Lawrence Chamberlain and Pete Rebel.

* * *

LUNCHEON SERVED.

Alumnae Members To Be Guests Of Active Club

Final arrangements for the party of Delta Sigma Zeta were made last night when members met at the home of Miss Patty Palmer, Park avenue west, with Miss Frances Brown assisting. Members of the committee include Theresa Sprosty, Charlotte Paste, Marjorie Scott, Marilou Sowash, Maxine Bush, Patty Olin, and Joan Watson. Alumnae members will be guests at this affair, which will be held at Miss Ruth Preston's, Dec. 28.

All the members brought articles for the Christmas basket which Miss Preston and Miss Marjorie Boals are packing for welfare. A Christmas grab-bag followed the meeting, and refreshments were served. Miss Patty Olin will be hostess for the next regular meeting, and Miss Paste will assist.

CIRCLE HOSTESS.

Miss Edna Ward, 655 Park avenue west, was hostess yesterday to members of Circle Five of the First Methodist church. She was assisted by Mrs. Charles Benedict and Mrs. B. N. Whitten. Devotions were led by Mrs. E. G. Corwin and Mrs. Clarence Lisle gave a Christmas story. Suitable appointments were used when luncheon was served. The next meeting will be held Jan. 18 with Mrs. Lisle, 238 Blymyer avenue.

Two Guests Present At Druscilla Meeting

Mrs. Jenny Rusk and Miss May Gates were guests of the Druscilla club yesterday afternoon for a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. O. Baker on Flint street. Miss Gates, who is from Pittsburgh, Pa., is the house guest of Mrs. J. O. Hartenfels.

Following a gift exchange and social hour, luncheon was served at a long table, decorated in keeping with the Christmas spirit. The January meeting will be held at Mrs. Staiger's tea room on Glessner avenue, and the date will be announced later.

* * *

WELCOME MEMBERS.

There were 38 members of the Newman Mothers' club present for a meeting at the school Wednesday afternoon. Four new members were welcomed to the organization during the meeting. Miss Marie Hoover's room received the attendance award. Mrs. Harry Roberts, Mrs. Robert Simpson, Mrs. Richard Strolein and Mrs. Conrad Reale were the hostesses. The next meeting at the school will be held on Jan. 17. The club members had a Santa Claus, Christmas tree and program for pupils of the school this morning.

* * *

CHOOSE SISTERS.

Members of the U-Name-It club chose secret sisters last night following the exchange of gifts at the home of Miss Elizabeth Schadek, 378 First avenue. Pinochle was played and prizes were won by Miss Elizabeth Booz, Mrs. Jacob Rupanovic, Miss Mildred Ohler and Mrs. Aubrey Thrush. The center of the long table at which luncheon was served was decorated with a tree and lighted tapers, and each place was marked with an individual tree. The next meeting will be Jan. 3 with Mrs. Thrush, 28 Spruce street.

BRIDGE DIVERSION AT EVENING EVENTS

AT LEAST two special holiday parties were features of last night's entertainment program when the Red Cross Production unit No. 1 and the Joan of Arc Study club entertained at Mansfield tea rooms. The first group had a dinner party for husbands at the Towne House with bridge later in the evening, and a Santa Claus who gave presents to all.

Prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Painter, Mrs. Charles Arbaugh, Mrs. M. L. Smith, Edwin Eichin and Verne Lersch. Tiny trees were used for the decorations. Plans were made to hold the next regular meeting at the home of Mrs. William J. Locke, Sherman avenue, Jan. 26. The party was arranged by Mrs. Arbaugh, Mrs. Leopold Adams and Mrs. Walter Becker.

* * *

A Santa Claus and reindeer and lighted tapers decorated the table at which luncheon was served to the members of the study club last night after they played bridge at the Susie Janis home on the Park avenue west road.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Verba Kanary, Mrs. Dwight Maxwell and Mrs. Joseph Seibert. Christmas poems and a gift exchange were features of the evening.

The party was planned by Miss Mary Rizzo and Mrs. A. E. Weakland. The next meeting will be held Jan. 18 with Mrs. Maxwell as hostess. Miss Marie Hecht will give the program.

Intercollegiate Football Abandoned By Chicago U.

CHICAGO—(AP)—The University of Chicago, a member of the Big Ten conference since the inception in 1896 and one of its major gridiron powers for many years, has abandoned intercollegiate football.

The end of the sport in which Chicago, despite recent disastrous seasons, still holds more undisputed conference championships than any other member came by decree of the university's board of trustees whose vote was unanimous.

The decision was made public last night by Harold Swift, chairman of the board, and Robert M. Hutchins, president of the university.

* * *

The trustees' statement said "the decision is effective at once and institutions with which football games have been scheduled for 1940 and 1941 will be asked to release the university."

"The university trusts," the statement added, "that its withdrawal from intercollegiate football will not require termination of its long and satisfactory relationship with the other members of the intercollegiate conference, known as the Big Ten."

The trustees said the university "believes its particular interests and conditions are such that its students now derive no special benefit from intercollegiate football."

They added "the university looks upon all sports as games which are conducted under its auspices for the recreation of the students. The university will continue to promote intramural sports and will encourage all students to participate in them."

Doubt that the conference would permit Chicago to continue conference competition in other sports was expressed by Prof. O. F. Long of Northwestern, chairman of the Big Ten faculty athletic committee and a member of that body for 37 years.

Predicting a special meeting of the faculty delegates in the near future to consider the action, Prof. Long added "I can't speak for the conference, of course, but it was apparent at the Big Ten meeting early this month that the faculty group was opposed to the suggestion that Chicago should drop football and carry on as a Big Ten competitor in other sports."

* * *

Shaughnessy himself termed the action "quite startling," but declared he had no other comment to make. T. Nelson Metcalf, director of athletics, declined to comment.

Chicago won two games last season—over Oberlin and Wabash—and one the season before, over DePauw. Not since Oct. 31, 1936, when it defeated Wisconsin 7-6, has it won a conference game. Yet in the all time conference records it has won six undisputed football titles—more than any other member.

* * *

Refuse to Comment On Big Ten Entry.

PITTSBURGH—(U.P.)—The possibility of the University of Pittsburgh assuming the place in Big Ten football competition renounced by the University of Chicago today remained uncertain as Pitt officials refused to comment.

Chancellor John G. Bowman of the university, agreeing that the university has tended decidedly to move toward the mid-west in scheduling its football games, declared that he could not say whether university officials would find it agreeable to bind themselves to a conference.

* * *

EVANSTON, Ill.—(INS)—The informal opinion that the Big Ten would not permit the University of Chicago to continue conference competition in other sports, following its abandonment of football, was expressed today by a conference official.

Professor O. F. Long of Northwestern university, chairman of the Big Ten faculty athletic committee, said he did not believe the conference would agree that Chicago could withdraw from a sport in which it was weak and at the same time continue competition in other athletic departments.

O'Rourke Joins Pirate Scouting Staff.

PITTSBURGH—(AP)—Patsy O'Rourke, the baseball scout who picked Chuck Klein, Jimmy Wilson, Hugh Mulcahy, Morris Arnovich and other stars for the Philadelphia Phillies, is going to dig up young diamond talent for the Pittsburgh Pirates. He resigned from the Phillies' staff last week and was signed by President Bill Benswanger of the Pirates last night.

Bellville Wins In Last Period

Bluejays Score 13 Points In Final Frame to Break Tie, Defeat Ontario, 22 to 11.

BELLVILLE—Rival coaches shuddered last spring when they watched the Bellville high school quintet strut its stuff in the Richland county basketball tourney.

The Bluejays had been just another ball club in the county league chase, but the way they performed in the tourney spelled trouble for the coaches and their teams.

Today that same club sports a spectacular six-game winning streak—four of the victories coming against county circuit opponents.

Bellville, playing its first year under Coach Wilbur Miley, added the fourth league win here last night by handing the Ontario high Warriors a 22 to 11 beating.

Bill Martin, lanky center, who has been having little trouble in locating the basket this season, rattled the backboards for 13 points to pace Bellville's attack.

Martin's points boosted his season's total to 62 points—an average of 15 markers per game.

Mentor Orv Kibler's cagers battled the favored Bluejays on even terms in the first chapter, and then spurted ahead, 6 to 4, at the intermission.

But at this point Martin and his teammates took command of the situation. Bellville limited the invaders to one point in the third chapter as it tallied five times to tie the score.

Bellville's basketeers began locating the basket in the last stanza and outscored the Warriors, 13-4, to ice the contest. The defeat dropped Ontario into a tie with Lexington for third place in the county race.

* * *

The clubs ended the first quarter with the score deadlocked at 2-all, and as play opened in the final period the score was tied at 9-9. Hudson, who was the only Ontario player to secure more than one field goal, paced his team with four points

* * *

The Ontario seconds annexed the preliminary contest by walloping the Bellville reserves, 10 to 4.

New Haven Wins Double Header

NEW HAVEN—The New Haven high cagers had a doubleheader victory chalked up in the record book today. New Haven accomplished the feat here last night in contests with Ruggles high and the Alumni.

Coming from behind after trailing, 13 to 10, at the rest period, New Haven whitewashed its rivals while piling up 16 points to take the lead, and emerge the winner by a 26 to 18 count. The New Haven varsity stopped the Alumni, 30 to 18, in the second tussle.

In another contest on the program, the Willard high Faculty defeated the New Haven faculty, 39 to 25.

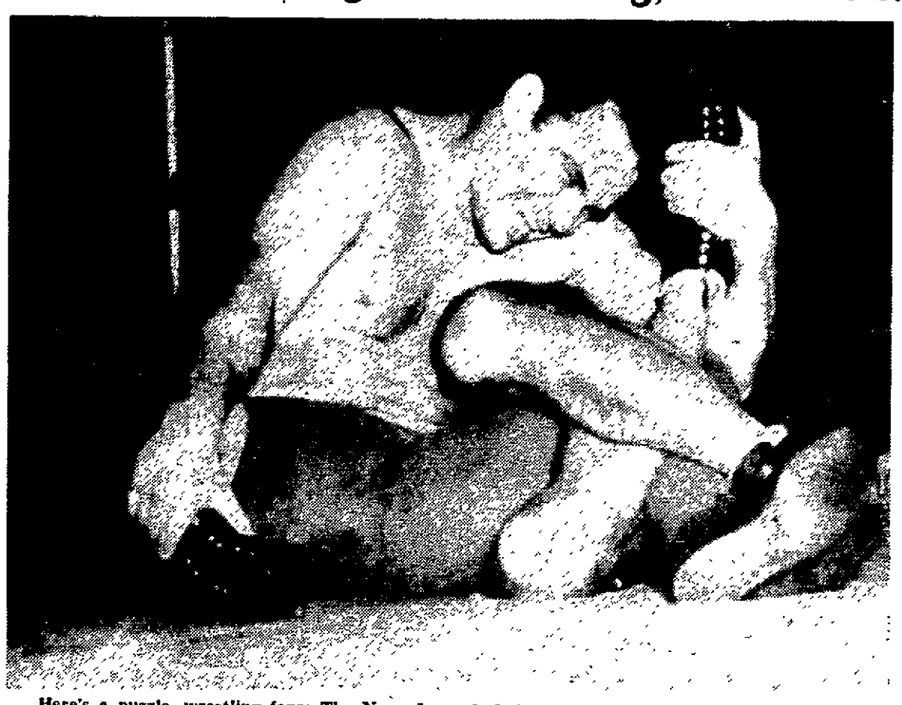
Puzzle: Whose Leg Is He Twisting, His or Foe's?



Here's a puzzle, wrestling fans: The News-Journal photo above shows Davey Reynolds, Columbus light-heavy, in the midst of a bevy of legs. Whose leg is whose? Your guess is as good as the next. Incidentally, Davey lost the main match on last night's wrestling card at the Armory to Kimon Kudo, Japanese star.

A "hammer-lock" has Reynold in another very uncomfortable position in this photo.

Kudo Tosses Reynolds, Miss Burke Pins Princess In Grapple Matches at Armory.

INDIAN BRAVES at White Cloud, Kan., are very unhappy this morning. Squaws weep. And children are quiet today—all because their princess, Rose White Cloud lost to Paleface Mildred Burke last night at Tim Nolan's Quality club wrestling show in the Armory.

Little did it matter to the friendly redskins of White Cloud that the Princess acquitted herself well in the match with the woman's world champion—all they knew was that their girl lost.

* * *

And good Indians don't lose. Princess Rose shouldn't have lost last night. For ten minutes she was a good Indian. For ten minutes she was giving Miss Burke all she could take and a little more too.

* * *

Exhibiting a new body slam which involved a bounce off the ropes, Rose had Mildred groggy and virtually had victory right in her hand when she grew a little careless.

Quick like lighting Mildred struck. She grabbed Rose's leg, whopped her on the floor, fell on the Indian and held her there for three seconds—just about the longest advantage that she ever did get. But that was plenty, brother, plenty. It was the difference beween victory and defeat.

Oriental cunning proved too much for Davey Reynolds in the finale when Kimon Kudo used his knowledge of jiu jitsu to whip the Iowan in two out of three falls.

Reynolds won the first fall in 23 minutes with three flying butts, a flying kangaroo kick and top body press. But the first fall gave no indication that Reynolds would have any trouble whatsoever with the Japanese.

The second fall was Kudo's virtually all of the way, the Oriental finally winning in 15 minutes with an arm throw and wrist strangle that gave Reynolds no end of pain. Reynolds proved unable to keep his holds as Kudo broke each one with an Australian face hold.

Final fall went to Kudo in 21 minutes with an Australian face hold—probably the most painful in wrestling — which had Reynolds crying out in agony. How tough the hold must be is evident from the fact that this is the first time Reynolds has given up to any man's hold.

The Masked Marvel, showing a unique if illegal ability at slugging, whipped Gus Johnston, Minneapolis in just 15 minutes. It was the fastest preliminary that Nolan has staged.

Lineup Intact For Road Game

Jack Dugger, Ex-Mansfield High Star, May Cause Trouble Around Basket Tonight.

BELIEVING that the 61 to 17 triumph scored at the expense of the Elyria team last week has given the Tygers the confidence they lacked, Coach Vern Hoffman will send his Mansfield high school basketeers against the Canton McKinley Bulldogs in Canton tonight.

This game is expected to provide the Tygers with their toughest test of the season, and the rangy Canton quintet has been installed as the favorite.

* * *

Mansfield has not beaten the Bulldogs since the inception of their new rivalry five years ago. Whether or not the Tygers can turn the trick tonight is a question, but it is not likely that they will prove easy for the Bulldogs.

* * *

Hoffman believes that he has corrected one glaring fault in the Mansfield offense by forcing the guards to drive into the basket. If Guards Don Rose and Bill Herpich can break through to the bucket consistently tonight, the Tyger mentor figures that the club has a good chance to upset the vaunted Bulldogs.

One of the major problems confronting the Tygers tonight is Jack Dugger, a former Mansfield star. Dugger is an adept rebound man, and Center Russ Beer, although slightly taller than the ex-Tyger, is expected to have his hands full.

Hoffman regards his team considerably faster than the Bulldogs, but Canton will hold a good-sized height advantage. Only one Canton player is shorter than six feet.

* * *

Gene Rudolph, who left a sick bed last week-end to play with the Tygers, shows no effects of his illness, and he and Gene Miller will again be at the forwards, with Jack Shiplet the No. 1 reserve. The rest of the lineup will remain unchanged.

* * *

A preliminary game between the Mansfield and Canton reserves is set for 7:30 p. m.

MIX IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK — (U.P.) — In New York's last major bout of the year, Petey Scalzo, a local Italian, and Simon Chavez of Venezuela tangle tonight in a return 10-round bout at Madison Square Garden to decide which is the No. 1 featherweight challenger.

Shelleys Gain First Place as Blue Goose Upsets Sports

Chocolates Rip Westies, 25-23

Joe Miller Leads Sohioans to 32 to 20 Victory Over Yuncker Club In City League.

WHO is that on top of the City Class A league standings, Shelley's Chocolates? You don't have to look again. That's right, it is the Shelley Chocolates.

Thanks to a fine exhibition of basketball by Pete Hergatt's Blue Goose Sohioans, who upset the touted Yuncker Sports, the Shelley quintet rolled up its second win of the season at the expense of the Westinghouse Electrics at Mansfield high school last night to gain the undisputed lead.

There were a lot of fireworks in the tussle that ended with a 25 to 23 score, but the Westies again lacked the final push to convert defeat into victory as they did last week when they bowed to the Sports by one point.

Weakened by the absence of Johnny Rees, a mainstay of the last season's championship Yuncker team, the Sports caused the Blue Goose entry little trouble as it won by a 32 to 20 count.

* * *

The Sohioans go into a tie for second place with the Sports by virtue of their triumph and the Electrics occupy the cellar spot.

* * *

Led by Freddy Lewis, who collected five field goals in only six tries, the Shelley outfit never trailed after the opening minutes of the game. The Chocolates held a 9 to 5 advantage at the end of the first period and headed the Westies 15 to 7 midway in the second frame.

With George Hummel leading the way, the Electrics rallied near the finish of the first half to reduce the margin to three points, the count standing 16 to 13 at the intermission.

The Chocolates again extended their advantage in the third chapter to 21 to 15, and it was this margin which pulled them through the final period in which the Westies outscored the winners, 8-4.

Westinghouse crawled within two points of the lead on Howard Poole's free throw in the final seconds of the thrill-packed game, but couldn't produce the basket to tie the score in the wild finish.

Lewis accounted for 11 of the Shelley points, and Poole was high for the losers with six. George Hummel and Ray Friday contributed five apiece.

The Blue Gose contingent never trailed as it lowered the Yuncker colors in the opening game. The tilt was never really close after the first minutes when the score was tied 2-all.

* * *

Blue Goose permitted the Sports only one basket in the first quarter as it garnered a 7 to 2 lead, and allowed only five more field goals thereafter. The Sohioans held a 17 to 9 advantage at the half.

* * *

The Sohioans, who controlled the rebound throughout the rough tussle, were in front by a 23 to 14 count at the completion of the third period.

The defending kings never threatened to overcome the Sohioans in the final quarter.

Five baskets gave Joe Miller of the Sohioans scoring honors. Al Stickler tallied six for the Sports.

Canfield Oils Trim Billiards

Augustine Quintet Gains Undisputed Lead In Senior League at Friendly House.

THERE'S a new name at the top of the standing in the Friendly House Senior Class A basketball league today.

It's the Augustine Canfield Station, and it marks the first time any name but the Rex Billiards has been in the lofty perch in nearly a year.

Augustine's basketballers, riding on a two-game winning streak, gained the top position last night by tripping the heretofore unbeaten Billiards, 12 to 7, in one of two league tilts played at the settlement.

While the defending championship Cuemen were being dumped out of the lead, the Raemelton Farm five stopped the Isaly Dairy quintet, 28 to 23, to climb into a tie for second place with the Billiards.

* * *

Led by George Bosko, who collected six points to set the individual pace, Augustine's outfit hopped into the lead in the opening period and was never headed.

* * *

The winners led, 6-2, in the first quarter, 7-2, at the half, and 11-4, at the end of the third chapter. The Billiards were held scoreless in the second stanza.

Joe Wentz, who paced the Cuemen with four markers, was the only Billiard cager to secure more than one basket. His brother, Mike, collected the other field goal allowed by the determined Service Station combine.

Raemelton had to stage a last-half rally to topple the Dairy five. The winners started the second half trailing by a 14-11 count and were still behind, 18-17, as the clubs opened the last frame.

The Farm club outscored the Dairy five, 11-5, in that final chapter to annex the game.

Raemelton, paced by Kenny Hardin and Matt Hager, who tallied eight points apiece, was leading, 5-3, in the opening period.

The Moose Lodge-Daley Cafe contest was postponed last night due the Christmas program being held at the Moose lodge. The two clubs are tied for last place in the circuit race.

BRISK UPSURGE IN STORE SALES HELPS MARKET

'All-Time Highs' in Volume Reported as List Stages Mild Recovery.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Mild and selective recoveries today seeped into the stock market.

While many issues continued at a standstill, small fractional gains predominated. Dealings were slow throughout.

Receiving support were Bethlehem Steel, Youngstown Sheet, N. Y. Central, Chrysler, General Motors, International Harvester, United Aircraft, Anaconda and Consolidated Edison.

Bonds inclined to edge forward and European securities markets improved. Commodities were a trifle uneven.

Brokers again spoke of reinvestment demand tending partially to offset tax selling. The latter was believed drawing to a conclusion, although actually traders will have until the end of next week to establish losses for their income statements.

Business news was more cheering than otherwise from a market standpoint. Arguments were still plentiful in Wall Street, however, as to just how far the spring recession would go.

Helping market sentiment were week-end reviews disclosing a brisk upsurge in retail purchasing. Dun & Bradstreet reported a number of centers enjoyed "all-time highs" in volume with many metropolitan stores finding shopping crowds the largest in history. For the country as a whole the sales total was estimated at 5 to 13 per cent ahead of last year.

Roosevelt Offers Wide-Scale Hospital Building Plan

MAPS PROGRAM TO AID SMALL COMMUNITIES

Buildings Costing $150,000 Would Be Erected by U. S., President Says.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt said today he was considering a plan whereby the federal government would build small hospitals in states and localities too poor to provide health facilities themselves.

The chief executive, discussing his national health program at a press conference, said the bills of Senator Wagner (D-NY) and Senator Harrison (D-Miss) providing for federal matching of state funds in hospitals and school construction would be too costly and would discriminate against poorer states.

He added, however, that the plan he had in mind for small hospital construction was not a substitute for the Wagner measure, but a first step in the effort to improve the nation's health. He said he thought this would be a quicker way to get legislation at the coming session.

The federal government, Mr. Roosevelt explained, would pay the entire cost of the hospitals on condition that a committee of experts found the communities could maintain them both from a health and a financial standpoint.

The federal government would retain title, however.

The President said no grandiose plan of construction was contemplated and that he had been informed the hospitals could be built for about $150,000 each.

Last 50 to 75 Years.

A committee had told him, he said, that such buildings could be built of wood in one story which would last from 50 to 75 years if kept painted, and would have two wings, one for white and one for colored patients, an administration center and clinic, and an operating room and laboratory.

The hospitals would have about 100 beds each.

Teachers Select 3 to Attend Ohio Education Convention.

Three delegates and three alternates had been chosen today from the teachers in Mansfield schools to attend the Ohio Educational association convention in Columbus Jan. 5 and 6.

Delegates are Miss Kathleen Mendenhall, Senior high school; Miss Hazel Zellner, Bushnell school, and Miss Virginia Stark, Hedges school.

Chosen as alternates were Miss Leota Hunter, Senior high school; Miss Lucile Lorow, Bushnell, and Miss Margaret Wheeler, Hedges school.

Supt. W. L. Miller and a number of principals and other teachers are also expected to attend the sessions.

Teacher tenure, the proposal for a state board of education, and recodification of Ohio's school laws will be discussed at the annual conference.

FLAMES SWEEP U. S. STEAMSHIP

Sabotage Suspected as Ship Catches Fire; 10 Passengers and 38 Crewmen Aboard.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Officials of the Shepard Steamship company today announced that their freighter-passenger steamship Wind Rush was ablaze in the Caribbean sea in circumstances which indicated "sabotage."

Otis Shepard, vice-president of the line, said the ship's master, Harris M. Jones, reported that a "mysterious" fire was raging in number 3 hold but that he had it under control and would reach Cristobal in the Canal Zone at 7 (E.S.T.) tonight.

Shepard said the line had been having labor trouble.

"We can't possibly imagine what would start a fire in that hold," he added, "we are suspicious that labor trouble has resulted in sabotage."

He said the hold contained a cargo of wire fencing, furniture, drugs, some cotton goods, but nothing of a combustible nature.

Firemen in Cristobal have been asked to meet the ship at its dock.

The 5,586-ton vessel loaded cargo at New York and Philadelphia, leaving the latter port Dec. 15 for Los Angeles and San Francisco. She carried 10 passengers and a crew of 38.

Shepard said she was 150 miles from Cristobal when the fire broke out.

CITY IS SANTA TO 175 WORKERS

Pay Day Moved Up to Tomorrow Because of Christmas.

Following an annual custom, 175 city employes will be paid tomorrow instead of next Saturday, their regular semi-monthly payday, City Auditor Paul L. Kelley said today as he prepared the $15,000 payroll. The pay day was moved up because of the Christmas holiday.

Meanwhile state employes in the Mansfield district along with others throughout the state received pay checks, not due until next Friday, today. Mayson Hayhurst, office manager of the state auditor's office said $1,500,000 was distributed among 10,000 persons on the state payroll.

Petitions Council To Grant $18,000 Budget For Parks

City council's finance committee had before it today a petition from the Mansfield Public Parks association that it grant the $18,000 budget request made by the board of park commissioners for operation of the park system next year.

The communication filed with Council Clerk William J. Beer, jr., today asked that the "full amount" be granted, pointing out that improvements in the park system were "needed to accommodate the thousands who use them annually."

"The sum is inadequate to properly maintain and improve the park system unless augmented by aid from other sources," the communication stated.

The park board made the request for funds last July when the city's budget was prepared. The finance committee will meet early next year to draft the annual appropriation bill and allocate funds to the various departments.

LAST OF RURAL SCHOOLS CLOSE

Most of Pupils To Get 10-Day Christmas Vacation.

The last contingent of the county's 5,000 rural school pupils began their Christmas holiday today and in most cases the vacation will last 10 days, Boyd Robinson, county superintendent, said.

Three of the larger schools have already closed and their vacations will be a little longer. Madison township pupils were dismissed Wednesday night and the Ontario and Lexington schools closed yesterday. All the others will close today.

The schools will re-open Jan. 2 or 3, Robinson said.

RITES SATURDAY

Aged Woman Who Died Of Burns To Be Buried At Hayesville.

HAYESVILLE—Funeral services will be held at the Presbyterian church at 2 p. m. Saturday for Miss Sarah Bell, 89, who died in Ashland Samaritan hospital Thursday afternoon of burns suffered when her clothing was ignited by a cook stove last Tuesday. Rev. J. H. Varner will officiate, and burial will be in Hayesville cemetery.

CITES HAZARDS

Ohio Official Acts To Block Opening of Wellington Movie.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Nelson Hovey, counsel for the Ohio Industrial Relations Department, today sought to restrain the proposed Saturday night opening of a motion picture theater in the town hall at Wellington, Lorain county.

An "extremely hazardous" heating system in the 50-year-old frame hall was the basis of Hovey's injunction petition, scheduled for filing in Lorain county common pleas court in Elyria.

STUDENTS MARK HOLIDAY WITH YULETIDE MUSIC

With schools closing this afternoon for the annual Christmas vacation, the holiday was observed at Senior high school this morning during an assembly staged by the A Cappella choir.

Directed by A. LeMoine Derr, the choir was assisted by the high school orchestra, directed by S. K. Jorgensen, and a male octet comprised of Richard Wright, Todd Strohminger, Clendon Parr, William Smith, Robert Earley, William Tropf, Richard Miller and Paul Tropf.

The choir presented "Cherubim Song," by Glinka; "Jesus, Our Lord, We Adore Thee," by James; "Nunc Dimittis," by Gretshaninoff; "Lullaby," by Christiansen; "Sleep Holy Babe," by Ganschow; "From Heaven Above," by Christiansen, and "We Praise Thee," by Tenyakoff.

Selections by the orchestra included "Chimes at Christmas," by Greenwald and "Valse Triste," by Sibelius. The octet was heard in "Morning Hymn," by Henshchell and "Omnipotence" by Schubert.

A special stage setting used for the program to represent the interior of a church with large stained windows was made by students of the art department under the direction of Miss Marjorie Campbell, art instructor.

Another Christmas program was presented before the opening of school today over the school public address system by members of the Radio Council, under the direction of Miss Margaret Tinsley.

The program included the reading of a Christmas poem, "Christmas Bells," by Charles Atton, with piano accompaniment by Richard Sparks, and two Christmas carols sung by the Varsity quartet, comprised of Richard Wright, Richard Miller, Clendon Parr and Robert Earley. Betty Axtell was accompanist for the quartet.

NAMED BY CLASS

Harold Mumford Named President of South Main Church Group.

Harold Mumford has been elected president of the Plus Ultra class of the South Main Street Evangelical church for next year.

Other officers are Loren Sauerbrun, vice president; Opal Scott, secretary; William Koppler, assistant secretary; Marie Underhill, recording secretary; Helen Farnham, treasurer; Charles Osborn, assistant treasurer. Mrs. W. G. Herrold and E. N. Moser are teachers of the class.

A Christmas program featured a recent meeting of the grup. The next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 26 at the church.

TORSO MURDER

Coroner Undecided After Body's Found In Cuyahoga River.

CLEVELAND —(U.P.)— Tests to determine whether an armless and legless body found in the Cuyahoga river was Cleveland's 14th torso murder victim were being made today by Coroner Samuel R. Gerber.

"I can't say off hand," the coroner reported after preliminary examination. "It may be just a badly decomposed drowning victim." He said the body was that of a white man about 5 feet 7 inches tall.

DID ROOSEVELT TELL INSIDERS HE WON'T RUN

Surprise Convention Proposal of High New Dealers Leads to New Speculation.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The possibility that President Roosevelt has informed his closest advisers that he will not seek a third term was seen today as explaining the surprise proposal of high New Dealers for a special convention to assure the nomination of a liberal Democrat in 1940.

The liberal convention was projected by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes under "inspired" conditions and promptly endorsed by Attorney General Frank Murphy. Ickes and Murphy are among the four or five most intimate advisers of the President and if anybody knows what he proposes to do in 1940, they do.

Observers noted there would be little sense to Ickes and Murphy urging a liberal convention—in advance of the regular Democratic convention—if they believe the President intends to seek a third term. The two cabinet members, to say the least, would be among the last to believe the President would have any trouble getting a renomination from a convention, largely controlled by federal office-holders. Even third-term opponents generally concede the President renomination, if he seeks it.

A curious phase of the Ickes proposal was that the liberal convention would be held to insure the nomination of a liberal by the Democrats. He spurned the idea of using his rally as a vehicle for creation of a new liberal third party. In endorsing the Ickes' proposal, Murphy emphasized his belief that all liberal forces should unite in a single group. He even invited fusion Republican Mayor Fiorella H. LaGuardia of New York city, to quit his present party allegiance and join the Democrats.

Favor Third Term.

Both Ickes and Murphy are on the record, however, for a third term. Neither would give a list of acceptable liberals, if the President retires.

Some observers believe the convention idea is aimed at blocking the nomination of either federal security administrator Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana, or Vice President John Nance Garner. Only a fortnight ago, Ickes blasted McNutt and declared no liberal would support him for the nomination in 1940. He repeated the anti-McNutt comment yesterday.

BOOK COMPARES NAZI IDEALS AND U. S. TRADITIONS

Library Additions Also Include Several Volumes With Civil War as Their Theme.

The Civil war and the Reconstruction, both from a romantic and a factional standpoint, is the theme of several books which are being added by the Public library this week. Two are fictional and one is non-fiction. The Nazi ideals as compared with the American tradition of tolerance and personal liberty is another subject dealt with in fiction.

GREAT TRADITION by Frances Parkinson Keyes is a novel of youth today. Hans Christian Marlowe von Hohenlohe, son of a German nobleman and an American woman, returns to Germany in 1924 after a childhood in the United States. He joins the Youth Movement and later becomes allied with the Nazi cause. The horror and hatred involved in Nazi rule and in the Civil war in Spain, where his wife is killed, drive Hans back to the country of his mother. He feels that here the great tradition still has force.

JOURNEY PROUD By Thomasine McGehee is a novel of the Old South and the Reconstruction days. George Allan Mackay, grandson of two wealthy plantation-owning families, attempts to restore the desolated tobacco lands of his estate in Virginia.

BRIDE OF A THOUSAND CEDARS by Bruce Lancaster and Lowell Brentano is a novel of Bermuda during the Civil war. The love story of Trevor Wyeth, Confederate blockade-runner, and Sally Cottrell, daughter of a merchant on the island, runs through this account of Bermuda's financial debauch.

Other Fiction:—WESTERN UNION, Grey; HALF INCH OF CANDLE, Gibbs; GUNMAN'S GOLD, Brand; SEVEN AGAINST THE YEARS, North.

Rise and Fall of Confederacy.

STATESMEN OF THE LOST CAUSE by Burton J. Hendrick is a history of the rise and fall of the Confederacy under Jefferson Davis and his cabinet. This study of the statesmanship and diplomacy of this Southern generation presents biographies of the characters who reigned in the time of America's most tragic crisis. Hendrick points out that while the South excelled in military strategy, the North excelled in statesmanship.

I KNOCK AT THE DOOR by Sean O'Casey is an autobiography of the author's childhood up through the twelfth year of his life. The author of "The Plough and the Stars" was a sensitive small boy in Dublin when Victoria reigned and Parnell flung his darts at England.

PENTHOUSE OF THE GODS by Theos Bernard tells of a pilgrimage into the heart of Tibet and the sacred city of Lhasa. The author, an American from Arizona, was initiated and became a Lama. He describes life and customs in remote Tibet, as well as the esoteric rituals of the order.

AMORC, The Rosicrucian Order in San Jose, California, has donated to the Mansfield Public library UNTO THEE I GRANT, volume number V of the Rusicrucian Library. The book contains the secret teachings of Tibet.

Other non-fiction:

TINTYPES IN GOLD, Jackson; TURTLES OF THE UNITED STATES & CANADA, Pope; PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE OF NURSING, Harmer and Henderson; NURSING IN SICKNESS AND IN HEALTH, Frost; ALL SEASONS AFIELD WITH ROD AND GUN, Camp; SO YOU'RE GOING TO BUY A BOAT, Calahan; ROAD TO RICHMOND, Small; ANCIENT ANDEAN LIFE, Hewitt; OXFORD BOOK OF LIGHT VERSE chosen by Auden; JOURNAL OF REPARATIONS, Dawes; TOWARD AN UNDERSTANDING OF THE U. S. S. R., Florinsky.

Roosevelt Offers Wide-Scale Hospital Building Plan

MAPS PROGRAM TO AID SMALL COMMUNITIES

Buildings Costing $150,000 Would Be Erected by U. S., President Says.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt said today he was considering a plan whereby the federal government would build small hospitals in states and localities too poor to provide health facilities themselves.

The chief executive, discussing his national health program at a press conference, said the bills of Senator Wagner (D-NY) and Senator Harrison (D-Miss) providing for federal matching of state funds in hospitals and school construction would be too costly and would discriminate against poorer states.

He added, however, that the plan he had in mind for small hospital construction was not a substitute for the Wagner measure, but a first step in the effort to improve the nation's health. He said he thought this would be a quicker way to get legislation at the coming session.

The federal government, Mr. Roosevelt explained, would pay the entire cost of the hospitals on condition that a committee of experts found the communities could maintain them both from a health and a financial standpoint.

The federal government would retain title, however.

The President said no grandiose plan of construction was contemplated and that he had been informed the hospitals could be built for about $150,000 each.

Last 50 to 75 Years.

A committee had told him, he said, that such buildings could be built of wood in one story which would last from 50 to 75 years if kept painted, and would have two wings, one for white and one for colored patients, an administration center and clinic, and an operating room and laboratory.

The hospitals would have about 100 beds each.

FLAMES SWEEP U. S. STEAMSHIP

Sabotage Suspected as Ship Catches Fire; 10 Passengers and 38 Crewmen Aboard.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK—Officials of the Shepard Steamship company today announced that their freighter-passenger steamship Wind Rush was ablaze in the Caribbean sea in circumstances which indicated "sabotage."

Otis Shepard, vice-president of the line, said the ship's master, Harris M. Jones, reported that a "mysterious" fire was raging in number 3 hold but that he had it under control and would reach Cristobal in the Canal Zone at 7 (E.S.T.) tonight.

Shepard said the line had been having labor trouble.

"We can't possibly imagine what would start a fire in that hold," he added, "we are suspicious that labor trouble has resulted in sabotage."

He said the hold contained a cargo of wire fencing, furniture, drugs, some cotton goods, but nothing of a combustible nature.

Firemen in Cristobal have been asked to meet the ship at its dock.

The 5,586-ton vessel loaded cargo at New York and Philadelphia, leaving the latter port Dec. 15 for Los Angeles and San Francisco. She carried 10 passengers and a crew of 38.

Shepard said she was 150 miles from Cristobal when the fire broke out.

CITY IS SANTA TO 175 WORKERS

Pay Day Moved Up to Tomorrow Because of Christmas.

Following an annual custom, 175 city employes will be paid tomorrow instead of next Saturday, their regular semi-monthly payday, City Auditor Paul L. Kelley said today as he prepared the $15,000 payroll. The pay day was moved up because of the Christmas holiday.

Meanwhile state employes in the Mansfield district along with others throughout the state received pay checks, not due until next Friday, today. Mayson Hayhurst, office manager of the state auditor's office said $1,500,000 was distributed among 10,000 persons on the state payroll.

Petitions Council To Grant $18,000 Budget For Parks

City council's finance committee had before it today a petition from the Mansfield Public Parks association that it grant the $18,000 budget request made by the board of park commissioners for operation of the park system next year.

The communication filed with Council Clerk William J. Beer, jr., today asked that the "full amount" be granted, pointing out that improvements in the park system were "needed to accommodate the thousands who use them annually."

"The sum is inadequate to properly maintain and improve the park system unless augmented by aid from other sources," the communication stated.

The park board made the request for funds last July when the city's budget was prepared. The finance committee will meet early next year to draft the annual appropriation bill and allocate funds to the various departments.

LAST OF RURAL SCHOOLS CLOSE

Most of Pupils To Get 10-Day Christmas Vacation.

The last contingent of the county's 5,000 rural school pupils began their Christmas holiday today and in most cases the vacation will last 10 days, Boyd Robinson, county superintendent, said.

Three of the larger schools have already closed and their vacations will be a little longer. Madison township pupils were dismissed Wednesday night and the Ontario and Lexington schools closed yesterday. All the others will close today.

The schools will re-open Jan. 2 or 3, Robinson said.

RITES SATURDAY

Aged Woman Who Died Of Burns To Be Buried At Hayesville.

HAYESVILLE—Funeral services will be held at the Presbyterian church at 2 p. m. Saturday for Miss Sarah Bell, 89, who died in Ashland Samaritan hospital Thursday afternoon of burns suffered when her clothing was ignited by a cook stove last Tuesday. Rev. J. H. Varner will officiate, and burial will be in Hayesville cemetery.

CITES HAZARDS

Ohio Official Acts To Block Opening of Wellington Movie.

CLEVELAND — (AP) — Nelson Hovey, counsel for the Ohio Industrial Relations Department, today sought to restrain the proposed Saturday night opening of a motion picture theater in the town hall at Wellington, Lorain county.

An "extremely hazardous" heating system in the 50-year-old frame hall was the basis of Hovey's injunction petition, scheduled for filing in Lorain county common pleas court in Elyria.

STUDENTS MARK HOLIDAY WITH YULETIDE MUSIC

With schools closing this afternoon for the annual Christmas vacation, the holiday was observed at Senior high school this morning during an assembly staged by the A Cappella choir.

Directed by A. LeMoine Derr, the choir was assisted by the high school orchestra, directed by S. K. Jorgensen, and a male octet comprised of Richard Wright, Todd Strohminger, Clendon Parr, William Smith, Robert Earley, William Tropf, Richard Miller and Paul Tropf.

The choir presented "Cherubim Song," by Glinka; "Jesus, Our Lord, We Adore Thee," by James; "Nunc Dimittis," by Gretshaninoff; "Lullaby," by Christiansen; "Sleep Holy Babe," by Ganschow; "From Heaven Above," by Christiansen, and "We Praise Thee," by Tenyakoff.

Selections by the orchestra included "Chimes at Christmas," by Greenwald and "Valse Triste," by Sibelius. The octet was heard in "Morning Hymn," by Henshchell and "Omnipotence" by Schubert.

A special stage setting used for the program to represent the interior of a church with large stained windows was made by students of the art department under the direction of Miss Marjorie Campbell, art instructor.

Another Christmas program was presented before the opening of school today over the school public address system by members of the Radio Council, under the direction of Miss Margaret Tinsley.

The program included the reading of a Christmas poem, "Christmas Bells," by Charles Atton, with piano accompaniment by Richard Sparks, and two Christmas carols sung by the Varsity quartet, comprised of Richard Wright, Richard Miller, Clendon Parr and Robert Earley. Betty Axtell was accompanist for the quartet.

The program was arranged by Virginia Fairman of the council.

NAMED BY CLASS

Harold Mumford Named President of South Main Church Group.

Harold Mumford has been elected president of the Plus Ultra class of the South Main Street Evangelical church for next year.

Other officers are Loren Sauerbrun, vice president; Opal Scott, secretary; William Koppler, assistant secretary; Marie Underhill, recording secretary; Helen Farnham, treasurer; Charles Osburn, assistant treasurer. Mrs. W. G. Herrold and E. N. Moser are teachers of the class.

A Christmas program featured a recent meeting of the grup. The next meeting is scheduled for Jan. 26 at the church.

TORSO MURDER

Coroner Undecided After Body's Found In Cuyahoga River.

CLEVELAND —(UP)— Tests to determine whether an armless and legless body found in the Cuyahoga river was Cleveland's 14th torso murder victim were being made today by Coroner Samuel R. Gerber.

"I can't say off hand," the coroner reported after preliminary examination. "It may be just a badly decomposed drowning victim." He said the body was that of a white man about 5 feet 7 inches tall

DID ROOSEVELT TELL INSIDERS HE WON'T RUN

Surprise Convention Proposal of High New Dealers Leads to New Speculation.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—The possibility that President Roosevelt has informed his closest advisers that he will not seek a third term was seen today as explaining the surprise proposal of high New Dealers for a special convention to assure the nomination of a liberal Democrat in 1940.

The liberal convention was projected by Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes under "inspired" conditions and promptly endorsed by Attorney General Frank Murphy. Ickes and Murphy are among the four or five most intimate advisers of the President and if anybody knows what he proposes to do in 1940, they do.

Observers noted there would be little sense to Ickes and Murphy urging a liberal convention—in advance of the regular Democratic convention—if they believe the President intends to seek a third term. The two cabinet members, to say the least, would be among the last to believe the President would have any trouble getting a renomination from a convention, largely controlled by federal office-holders. Even third-term opponents generally concede the President renomination, if he seeks it.

A curious phase of the Ickes proposal was that the liberal convention would be held to insure the nomination of a liberal by the Democrats. He spurned the idea of using his rally as a vehicle for creation of a new liberal third party. In endorsing the Ickes' proposal, Murphy emphasized his belief that all liberal forces should unite in a single group. He even invited fusion Republican Mayor Fiorella H. LaGuardia of New York city, to quit his present party allegiance and join the Democrats.

Favor Third Term.

Both Ickes and Murphy are on the record, however, for a third term. Neither would give a list of acceptable liberals, if the President retires.

Some observers believe the convention idea is aimed at blocking the nomination of either federal security administrator Paul V. McNutt, of Indiana, or Vice President John Nance Garner. Only a fortnight ago, Ickes blasted McNutt and declared no liberal would support him for the nomination in 1940. He repeated the anti-McNutt comment yesterday.

BOOK COMPARES NAZI IDEALS AND U. S. TRADITIONS

Library Additions Also Include Several Volumes With Civil War as Their Theme.

The Civil war and the Reconstruction, both from a romantic and a factional standpoint, is the theme of several books which are being added by the Public library this week. Two are fictional and one is non-fiction. The Nazi ideals as compared with the American tradition of tolerance and personal liberty is another subject dealt with in fiction.

GREAT TRADITION by Frances Parkinson Keyes is a novel of youth today. Hans Christian Marlowe von Hohenlohe, son of a German nobleman and an American woman, returns to Germany in 1924 after a childhood in the United States. He joins the Youth Movement and later becomes allied with the Nazi cause. The horror and hatred involved in Nazi rule and in the Civil war in Spain, where his wife is killed, drive Hans back to the country of his mother. He feels that here the great tradition still has force.

JOURNEY PROUD By Thomasine McGehee is a novel of the Old South and the Reconstruction days. George Allan Mackay, grandson of two wealthy plantation-owning families, attempts to restore the desolated tobacco lands of his estate in Virginia.

BRIDE OF A THOUSAND CEDARS by Bruce Lancaster and Lowell Brentano is a novel of Bermuda during the Civil war. The love story of Trevor Wyeth, Confederate blockade-runner, and Sally Cottrell, daughter of a merchant on the island, runs through this account of Bermuda's financial debauch.

Other Fiction:—WESTERN UNION, Grey; HALF INCH OF CANDLE, Gibbs; GUNMAN'S GOLD, Brand; SEVEN AGAINST THE YEARS, North.

Rise and Fall of Confederacy.

STATESMEN OF THE LOST CAUSE by Burton J. Hendrick is a history of the rise and fall of the Confederacy under Jefferson Davis and his cabinet. This study of the statesmanship and diplomacy of this Southern generation presents biographies of the characters who reigned in the time of America's most tragic crisis. Hendrick points out that while the South excelled in military strategy, the North excelled in statesmanship.

I KNOCK AT THE DOOR by Sean O'Casey is an autobiography of the author's childhood up through the twelfth year of his life. The author of "The Plough and the Stars" was a sensitive small boy in Dublin when Victoria reigned and Parnell flung his darts at England.

PENTHOUSE OF THE GODS by Theos Bernard tells of a pilgrimage into the heart of Tibet and the sacred city of Lhasa. The author, an American from Arizona, was initiated and became a Lama. He describes life and customs in remote Tibet, as well as the esoteric rituals of the order.

AMORC, The Rosicrucian Order in San Jose, California, has donated to the Mansfield Public library UNTO THEE I GRANT, volume number V of the Rusicrucian Library. The book contains the secret teachings of Tibet.

Other non-fiction:

TINTYPES IN GOLD, Jackson: TURTLES OF THE UNITED STATES & CANADA, Pope; PRINCIPLES AND PRACTICE OF NURSING, Harmer and Henderson; NURSING IN SICKNESS AND IN HEALTH, Frost; ALL SEASONS AFIELD WITH ROD AND GUN, Camp; SO YOU'RE GOING TO BUY A BOAT, Calahan; ROAD TO RICHMOND, Small; ANCIENT ANDEAN LIFE, Hewitt; OXFORD BOOK OF LIGHT VERSE chosen by Auden; JOURNAL OF REPARATIONS, Dawes; TOWARD AN UNDERSTANDING OF THE U. S. S. R., Florinsky.

GLIDER RECORD

ROME—(INS)—A new Italian record for motorless flight of nine hours and ten minutes was established by Constantino Gada, an army sergeant-major. He established the mark in a flight over the reclaimed Pontine Marshes. The former record was eight hours, 21 minutes.

Red Cross Cites Deadline for Compensation Applications.

Richland county World war veterans and dependentsof deceased veterans who never received their adjusted compensation were reminded today by the Red Cross that they have until Jan. 2 to make application.

There are a number of dependents of veterans in this area who are eligible for compensation but have not applied for it; Gertrude B. English, executive secretary of the Richland county Red Cross chapter said.

A widow who has not remarried, children who were under 18 when the father died or incapable of self-support, a dependent mother or father, are all eligible in the order named, and may apply for the bonus if it has never been paid," Mrs. English said.

Proof of dependency must be proved and all papers submitted not later than Jan. 2, Mrs. English added.

LUCAS—The December meeting of the Lucas Booster club, originally scheduled for Thursday evening, will be held next Thursday evening, it was announced by Gilbert Oswalt, president of the organization.

TELL BILL GOODBYE + + + + + +

By MARIE BLIZARD

(Copyright, 1939.)

CHAPTER TWENTY-EIGHT

THEY WENT to a night club. To the Flamingo which was the gayest in town. Gertrude sat between Nicky, who was strangely silent, strangely smiling as her eyes met the dark eyes of the demure, quiet girl sitting opposite next to Bill, and Fabienne, who looked frail and worn.

Gertrude's pose was being the Brave Mother that evening. A song brought sentimental tears to her eyes and, catching Bill's glance across the table, she said, "You'll have to forgive me. I've lost my big boy. The twins are only 13, you know." Then she flashed a glance at Nicky and another at Fabienne, a meaningful glance. "But perhaps some day I shall have Nicky for my son. He's always been like one to me."

Fabienne said: "Mother, please!"

"But I have, "Nicky said. "I've even borrowed money from Gertrude."

Fabienne said, "I think I'll go if no one minds. I'm still a little weak from the flu."

Both Bill and Nicky got up.

"You can use my car, darling," her mother said. "And sent it back. I've telephoned for some people to join us here or I'd go with you."

"Don't bother, mother, Fabienne told her, with a sarcastic, knowing glance. "It really isn't necessary for anyone to come with me. Stay here and have a good time."

Ellen had got up, then. "I think I'll leave, too, Fabienne. I'm a working girl, you know. Is there room for me?"

"Well, if you must—" Gertrude's voice trailed off. She'd seen someone she knew across the room and was waving gaily, her child's departure forgotten.

"We'll take you and Bill home first," Fabienne said, giving the chauffeur directions to go to the apartment on Twelfth street

"Mind if I ride back to the house with you two?" Bill asked, getting back into the car after saying goodnight to Ellen.

"Not a bit," Fabienne tld him

They rode in silence for some little time. The silence was too heavy for Fabienne's frayed nerves. "Penny for the you-know-whats, Nicky."

"I was thinking about Ellen Nice girl."

"Wonderful," Fabienne said. "I told you she was."

"You gave me a slightly different picture."

"You have to know Ellen to know what a swell person she is," Bill said.

* * *

Fabienne was pretty fond of Ellen, but she was in no mood to listen to the peans of praise that went from Nicky to Bill and back again like a soft ball

At her own door she said shortly, "It's too late to ask you up. Goodnight, me lads."

"You sleep until noon, young lady," Bill ordered.

Nicky said, "I'll give you a ring tomorrow."

"Not too early, Nicky. I'm going to take the doctor's advice. I'd like to sleep for the rest of my life," she said, her mouth trembling.

And so she would—to sleep and forget.

A little before noon, Gertude came into her bedroom, her negligee trailing, jeweled cigaret case in hand, and settled herself in the pillows of Fabienne's chaise lounge. The signs indicated a long talk.

Fabienne sighed and sat up.

"It was nice, wasn't it?" her mother said brightly. "Brenda is such a lovely girl! I'm lucky to be getting a daughter like that."

"Instead of the one you have?"

"Really, Fabienne, you have the most unpleasant disposition. I sometimes think—" Whatever she thought was interrupted by the appearance of the maid with Fabienne's breakfast tray.

"Why did you ask Bill Mallory to go with us last night? And what's the idea of asking him to dinner next week?" Fabienne shot at her mother.

"He's a very nice young man," her mother said calmly.

"You've met lots of nice young men" Fabienne drank from her coffeecup, looikng at her mother over its edge.

Her mother lit a gold-tipped cigaret. She said, "I think the new registry did a very good job on the extra servants, don't you? I must remember to call them again,"

* * *

Fabienne put down her cup and broke an egg into warm glass. "He's poor," she said.

"He won't always be poor" Her mother studied her face in a long mirror.

"Is it just because he's good looking? Another extra man for dinners?"

"I hadn't thought of that," her mother said pleasantly, "but now that you mention it, I'll keep it in mind. Quite romantic looking, too. Like a doctor character in a novel He looks quite like a Rockwell Kent design. So rugged!"

"A little too young for you," her daughter said cruelly

"I wasn't thinking of myself."

"Surely you weren't thinking of ME! I told you he was poor," Fabienne pointed out. "And, of course, there is always Nicky, or have you given up that idea?"

"You'll lose Nicky if you aren't careful," her mother observed.

Fabienne rang for the maid to take away her tray. When she had come and gone, she said "Mother, why are you cultivating or wanting to cultivate Bill?"

"Because I'm interested in clever people. Bob Whiting knows him. He says that he is one of the smartest young surgeons on his staff."

Dr. Whiting was probably the best-known orthopedic surgeon in New York Fabienne's heart swelled with pride. If Whiting said that Bill was good, he must have been very good indeed.

Immediately she put her pride aside and pursued the subject. "Bill isn't like your young actors or painters. You won't find him dropping in for a cup of tea and acting grateful for being taken up by the countess."

Gertrude's dark eyes flashed with anger. "Really, Fabienne, you are most difficult! What is it that you want? I suggest a suitable marriage for you! I offer to help your new friends! And what do I get for it? Rudeness! It's simply impossible for us to get along."

Fabienne studied her mother thoughtfully. At last she said, "You're right, mother. I am rude. I'm the one who is wrong. We just happen to be two very unlike people. We won't approve of what the other stands for. You'd really be happier if I weren't living with you, wouldn't you?"

Her mother got up, arranging her draperies, fixing her hair, frowning over a white one that showed at the temple. "Yes," she said, "I would. I think you would be happier living apart. If you want an apartment, I think I could manage to let you have a little money, although you have five hundred of your own—"

"Thanks," Fabienne answered. "I can manage all right. I'll leave this afternoon. I'll go back to Ellen's. She doesn't find me so difficult."

Gertrude shrugged her chiffon-clad shoulders. "Whatever you like, me dear, but do bring the doctor to dinner. I have some friends who could help him, I think." She went out, leaving a perfumed wake behind her.

Fabienne appeared at Ellen's apartment a little before a quarter of 8. "I'm back," she said. "I hope you'll be glad to have me."

"Of course, I'm delighted!" Ellen said.

Why had Ellen looked at her so strangely, colored so quickly and said she was delighted when something warned Fabienne that she was NOT delighted?

She didn't know that Nicky was coming in a very few minutes

Mansfield News-Journal

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO FRIDAY, DECEMBER 22, 1939.

Stalin is said to be saving his best troops until later—but, then again, he may have purged the wrong generals.

Premier Chamberlain's peace aim is "a new Europe"—and from present appearances there may not be enough left for a remodeling project.

Those who recall the old home-talent play, "The Fall of Atlanta," will probably be amazed by the superior way in which "Gone With the Wind" handles the theme.

Help Prevent Home Accidents

COMPLETE holiday safety was not achieved by the change from lighted candles on Christmas trees to electric bulbs. Police and fire officials have been warning the public lately that there are several "don'ts" to remember during the current festive season.

Father is warned not to fuss around the Christmas tree with a lighted cigar or cigaret in his mouth. The wires and all connections for the colored lights should be properly placed and in good condition, to prevent fire.

It is important, too, not to let any inflammable trimming come in contact with the light bulbs and not to permit inflammable stuff to lie around the living room in places where cigarets or matches could set it afire quickly.

Mother hardly needs warning about the old familiar safety precautions—keeping a certain order in the general confusion so that people won't stumble over toys or other objects on the floor, keeping the candy consumption down to a minimum after meals instead of a day-long process, and so on.

These things take only a little special thought and care, but add to the safety without which Christmas joy might change into tragedy.

Calendar Revision Would Solve This

WITH the long-discussed revision of the calendar still hanging fire, it appears that one phase which should not be overlooked is the importance of having New Year eve set for a time that would not interfere with liquor selling, as is the case this year.

With the new year arriving on Monday, the liquor business is hampered by laws requiring Sunday closing, and even the margin allowed by state law—from midnight Sunday to 2:30 a. m. Monday—is scarcely sufficient to permit the imbibing necessary to make what some regard as a real New Year party.

In places like Mansfield, however, where a city ordinance intervenes, even this post-midnight margin is wiped out and neither enforcement officials nor members of council, appear inclined to do anything about it—leaving it so that parents and their children have no alternative but to do their drinking in their own homes, or in the homes of friends.

Possibly too much attention is being paid to this subject—possibly there are more important things to be considered in Mansfield—but judged by the concern evidenced by persons directly interested, this is the outstanding hardship of the year-end.

Gifts to Those Who Serve

WHATEVER differences of opinion may exist as to giving tips, the habit has become so firmly established that individual objections carry little weight.

A tip is usually given in exchange for some form of service, above actual price, and intended for use by the employe who performed the service.

Most frequently associated with hotels, restaurants and train or boat trips, tipping shoe shine attendants, newsboys and other persons engaged in some form of service, has also come into considerable vogue.

An odd quirk of the tipping habit is that many people give tips in hotels and restaurants when away from their home city but neglect (or forget) to tip those who serve them regularly.

The Christmas season is a fine time to let deferred tips take the form of gifts to persons who have performed some kind of service in a satisfactory way—as an expression of appreciation, and in recognition of the likelihood that Christmas will be made happier for the recipient because of your thoughtfulness.

Keep Activities Balanced

THERE is so much war news and war talk," comments a reader. "No doubt it's important, and it's often interesting, as that Graf Spee story was for instance. But it's depressing and it takes people's minds too much from constructive and hopeful things. What can we do about it?"

It is natural that thoughtful people right now should be pre-occupied with war and its problems. The conflicts, military, naval and political, now going on in most regions of the world, upset the routine of life and raise all kinds of questions and fears about the future. Intelligent and thoughtful people naturally want to know what is happening and where it may lead.

But it is foolish for anyone to become so immersed in all these campaigns and quarrels and problems as to neglect his own affairs. It is better to keep life and its activities balanced, even in international crises. There must be normal work and plans and cultivation of the finer things of life. And readers will find plenty of them, too, in the newspapers and magazines.

Then there are music and art and reading and social activities, all the fine arts of civilization, which are more important in the long run than wars. This is a wonderful period to cultivate the arts and develop talent and enjoy cultural wealth which, for most part belongs to everybody.

One Mother and Her Boy

MOTHERS are sometimes faced by unpleasant tasks, but not often by one that would cause greater distress than that of returning an erring son to a penal institution, after he had escaped and returned home.

Such, however, was the pre-Christmas experience of one mother whose son escaped from the Sandusky honor camp and whom she brought back to the reformatory to complete his term.

The son is 19 years old, and a mother knows that at 19 a boy still has many things to learn. Among these things is the meaning of the word "honor" when applied to an honor camp, and also the significance of "trusty" in designating an inmate of a correctional institution.

It's reassuring to find so many presidential candidates in both parties ready and willing to save the country.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK — Several weeks ago this column relayed the story of a girl in a red raincoat who came up to a cop on a rain-swept corner in New York one night, and said something to him which caused him to believe she was intoxicated. She backed away, terrified, then turned and fled. Some time the next day the body of a girl answering to this description was found in a rooming house in Brooklyn. This girl had on a red raincoat, and red slippers to match.

This morning I received this letter from a mother in a small town in New Jersey:

"Dear Mr. Tucker, I read the enclosed story in tonight's newspaper, and I wonder if you would kindly give me a little more information about this girl. I have a daughter whom I haven't seen in almost a year. I know she was living in either the Manhattan or Brooklyn sections of New York. Last July her father and I received several postcards from her, saying she had been ill in a hospital, and that she was still ill. She refused to return home, saying that since she had not remained with us when she was well, she could not bring herself to return and become a burden on us when she was ill.

"There was never any address on the cards, and I have never been able to get in touch with her. She was 20 years old on December 4. I would be so grateful if you could tell me what steps to take in the search for her, and if you could give me a more accurate description of the girl you were writing about, so that I can perhaps learn something of my child's fate. I am enclosing a snapshot, a picture, of her, which she gave me last January. On the back, in her handwriting, are the words, 'Taken at 42nd street,' I am, with grateful thanks — an Anxious Mother."

* * *

DEAR MRS. M., I can tell you definitely that the girl I wrote about was NOT your daughter. I could not be mistaken in this. But I am writing to you under separate cover, suggesting various leads for you to follow, and I hope with all my heart that your daughter is safely returned to you.

* * *

It is too much to hope, I suppose, that she will see this, or that I may chance upon her some day, and recognize her from the picture her mother has sent me.

But if I should, I know what I would do. I would go straight up to her and say, "Miss M., this isn't any of my business, I know—but I had a letter from your mother the other day, and she is eating her heart out because you never write to her and she doesn't know where you are.

"Now I know that you are 20 years old, and that you are grown, and that you are a personable young woman with a mind of your own, and I know also that this is a free country, and that adults can do anything they want to do.

* * *

"BUT have you ever stopped to think that we adults really haven't the right to do everything we want to do—not everything—if it hurts someone else. None of us ever has the right to go through life living our own lives, if by doing so we are poisoning and undermining and destroying the happiness of another.

"I don't know anything about your past or any of the things that may have induced you to leave home. If your homelife was unhappy, if your parents did not understand you, or could not gain and hold your confidence, that is something that is indeed unfortunate and tragic. But there need not be anything final about this—not at your age. You're too young; you're just a kid; you're just starting out in life. If you think they're at fault, give them another chance really to know you and understand you better. But if it's the other way round, well, why not give yourself a break? For months now your mother has been waiting for a letter that—until now—has never come. Go on. Write it. Surprise her. Somehow I know that just a few lines will make all the difference in the world."

Your Truth Isn't the Other Fellow's.

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THE GREAT OBJECTION to telling the other fellow the Truth about himself is that it isn't the Truth.

It may be your truth but it isn't his Truth.

Contrary to our most cherished traditions, Truth is not a uniform article. It does not come in certified capsules—contents guaranteed under the Pure Food and Drug Act. Truth, itself, is universal and eternal, but no two mortals ever see it from the same slant.

Before you can understand, much less regulate, any man's notion of Truth, you must reckon with his life—and that life goes back to Adam, with something doing every minute—and every one of those minutes contributing to that man's special and particular conception of Truth.

* * *

WHEN I say to you, "this is right," I am not speaking for Elsie Robinson alone. I am speaking for all the people and circumstances which have had a hand in the making of Elsie Robinson. The countless generations of merry Micks and dour Scots, bellowing Britons and catch-as-catch-can Yanks . . . all their dreams and revolts, their jubilees and despairs, their brave triumphs and cowardly fadeouts.

I am speaking for the food they ate and the houses they lived in; for the bitterness that brewed in them when they were poor and outcast—and the pride that strutted its stuff through their veins when they were top-dog. All these people and events—all these circumstances and conditions—have been handed down to me and make MY truth as I see it today.

And the same is true of you. Your truth is also the result of mass-production. Untold millions laughed and loved, labored and died that your mind might be what it is today and their mark lies plain on your every thought and deed.

So it happens that your Truth is true for YOU and my Truth is true for ME—but they are utterly unlike each other and all other codes and creeds. Yet each Truth is right within its own horizon and deserves all humanity's respect. But will we admit this fact? Notta chance! For each one of us has been taught that we—and we alone—have the sole, original, authorized version of Virtue. But how can we be sure of this? How can we know . . . really know . . . that we're right? Why, our Conscience will tell us. Well, we can't describe it exactly. But it's some kind of Still Small Voice that's guaranteed to go off inside, like a spiritual Big Ben, whenever we stray from the straight and narrow path.

* * *

AND that's right. Strange as it may seem to the Doubtful, there is such a spiritual timekeeper in each one of us. There is—as sure as there are toes and tonsils. But it isn't one sound—one, perfect, copyrighted solo. It's a chorus of pleas and protests that began far back, in our first jungle mumbling and has come down and down, faltering and failing, many a time, by the way—but always starting again and stumbling on—toward the glory of that Voice that spoke for us all in Bethlehem and wept for all on Golgotha.

What's Conscience? What's Truth? That's what they are. Not any one plan made to any one measure. But the gleams and gleanings of all the beauty that ever stirred in the human heart—and no two parcels the same, praises be! So before you start kicking at the Mulligans and O'Grady's in your neighborhood's record you'd best give a thought to the Brannigans and O'Brians in your own! Which is grand advice for us one and all—and I'm only hoping I can take it!

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Monday, Dec. 22, 1919.

Local mills were paying $2.40 a bushel for wheat.

Seven-cent street car fare was agreed upon by city council and street car company.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Glover went to Orange, N. J., to spend the holidays with their daughter.

Turkey was given to each married employe of Cotter Transfer & Storage company.

Rubber Works defeated Ohio Brass bowling team on Smokehouse alleys.

R. A. Zediker moved from 101 Hedges street to 12 Flint street.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Saturday, Dec. 22, 1934.

Edwin Palmer of Wiesbaden, Germany, arrived home to spend Christmas with his mother, Mrs. I. M. Palmer, West Fourth street.

Charles U. Bonnett, 64, Mansfield reformatory guard, died at his home.

Word was received of the birth of daughter to Mr. and Mrs. George A. Kelley, jr., (Mozella Wilson), at their home in Long Beach, Cal.

David Boals, student at Kentucky Military Institute, Lyndon, Ky., was visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Boals.

Daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs William Hoffman at General hospital.

TODAY IN HISTORY

On this date in 1864, General Sherman completed his famous March to the sea by capturing Savannah.

Timely Editorial

Must Buy In Order To Sell

The war is beginning to have its expected effect in reducing the amount of American exports. November figures show a sharp curtailment in goods sold to Europe. The greatest reductions have been in the purchases of Canada, Great Britain and the Scandinavian countries. The blockade and diversion of purchasing power to war uses are responsible.

This situation invites attention once more to the possibilities of increasng trade wth Latin America. Here the great difficulty lies in the inability of the Latin-American countries to get hold of enough dollars to pay for their purchases. The only way they can get dollars is by selling their products to the United States.

American businessmen are surveying the Latin-American field with a view to increasing their exports. But such a survey will not bring the desired trade unless it is accompanied by a similar survey to determine what products can be economically bought in Latin America to furnish the dollars required for the purchase of United States Goods.—Kansas City Star.

Health And Diet

Wishing You Good Health.

—By DR. CLENDENING

I WISH you good diet, good health and a merry Christmas day.

You may think of your humble health scribe as being down in Mexico City, unless my plans are changed after this is written. Mexico is an appropriate place to be, dietetically speaking, on Christmas, because it was in Mexico that the first turkey was ever seen.

The Spaniards who explored Mexico thought they were in Asia, you must remember, and this strange bird was called the "turkey" because that country was supposed to be its native habitat. The French name for turkey is "dandi," a corruption of its full original title, "poulet d'Inde."

The plum pudding, which I hope all of my readers will enjoy, has a long and romantic history. Yule dough was made of chopped meat paste, spices to symbolize the gifts of the Wise Men of the East, and flour, embodying the spirit of everlasting life immanent in the wheat.

The forerunner of the modern plum pudding was frumenty or furmity (from frumentum, grain). It was a kind of porridge made of hulled wheat, boiled in milk and seasoned with cinnamon and sugar. The cooks of the more opulent families began to add plums, currants and meat broth, and its name gradually changed to plum porridge. It was served as a thick soup and was the first food eaten on Christmas day.

Queen Anne, who was gouty and also a gourmand, found she could not stomach so much rich food, so she had her plum porridge made solid so she could eat a little at a time. Boiled in a cloth or pudding bag, it was a kingly dish. Mother Goose, most of which refers to personages in Queen Anne's time, had a verse:

"The Queen did make
And stuffed it well with plums
And in it put great lumps of fat
As big as my two thumbs."

Plum pudding in its present form, however, did not appear in cook books until about 1875. It was directed that it be made a long time ahead. The last Sunday in November is known among English housewives as "Stir Up" Sunday. The collect appointed for the day begins "Stir up, we beseech Thee, the wills of Thy faithful people." This was a reminder to the good cooks in the congregation that they should begin stirring up their Christmas plum puddings.

Every person in the household, according to old custom, stirred the pudding before it was boiled —"for luck." The mistress of the household is supposed to add the spices with her own fair hand. The pudding should be boiled "six hours upon the day of stirring and six hours upon the day of eating."

As Others See It

The Attraction.

Another reason why we might get into the war is because of the peculiar attraction that a fuss has for a fool.—Omaha World-Herald.

Here's an Idea.

In Florida, a relief worker dies leaving an estate of $47,000 which may give the Ham-and-Eggers of California a whole new set of ideas.—Detroit News.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—Congressman Dies may not realize it yet, but he has just made the greatest mistake of his entire Un-American Activities career. He has ignored the oldest adage of smart politicians, lawyers, newspaper editors and others who have to get along with folks—namely, never to attack a woman.

Dies has ignored that rule to the point of attacking thousands of women. Through a chief investigator, J. B. Matthews, he issued a report tying the tag of "COMMUNIST" upon the League of Women Shoppers and various other ladies' consumer organizations.

They are so irate that they plan to turn the tables on Dies and have his committee investigated at the next session of congress. And judging from some of their inside sleuthing, it looks as if they might succeed.

Most startling thing the ladies claim to have discovered is that before J. B. Matthews issued his report calling consumers' organizations communistic, he attended a dinner in New York at which various big shot manufacturers advised with him on his strategy.

* * *

Secret Dinner.

THE dinner was given at the home of George Sokolsky, who has been closely identified with the National Association of Manufacturers and others unsympathetic with consumer attempts to report on the quality of manufactured goods.

Sokolsky, now a writer for the New York Herald-Tribune, once was paid $6,000 by the National Association of Manufacturers as a ghost writer and pamphleteer. He was also paid $14,000 by Tom Girdler, chairman of Republic Steel, to serve as "writer, lecturer and publicity man" Also he was employed to write speeches for Steelman Ernest Weir.

Present at the Sokolsky dinner was Robert Lund of St. Louis, former president of the Manufacturers association and head of the Lambert Pharmacal company, together with several other big manufacturers of household and consumers' goods.

The irate lady shoppers have information that at this dinner the strategy of calling them "Communists" was carefully considered; so now they propose having the dinner guests called before a congressional committee.

* * *

Consumer Competition.

THE ladies also have unearthed the fact that another guest at the Sokolsky dinner was F. J Schlink. It so happens that Schlink is Matthews' partner in conducting Consumer's Research. This organization was NOT attacked by the Dies committee.

Consumer's Research publishes Consumer's Digest, of which Matthews has been vice president and managing editor. His wife is one of the four largest stockholders in this organization. Consumer's Research is the direct competitor of Consumers Union, to which Matthews pinned the tag of communism.

So the lady consumers and the lady shoppers are ready to deluge congress with accusations that the Dies committee was favoring one consumer's group against the others.

Postal Santa Claus.

THE other day a letter came to the dead letter office in Washington, addressed to Santa Claus. It was only one of thousands of such letters, which postmen can't deliver, because they — prosaic creatures—don't now where Santa Claus lives.

But this letter was more touching than most. It was written by an 8-year-old boy in Oklahoma, who told Santa he had never had a Christmas present, and wanted a basketball for a boys' team he and his pals had organized.

Bertram Cowles, chief of the dead letter office, passed this letter around among his associates, and they all dug down in their jeans to help buy a basketball.

The gift was sent by airmail, together with a wire to the local postmaster to be on the look-out and be sure to deliver it by Christmas.

Note: — Cowles and comrades make no promises to act as Santa's stand-in in every case. As many as 100,000 such letters come every year to the various dead letter offices throughout the country, many of them without postage. Postal officials permit organizations like Elks and Rotary clubs to take the letters for distribution of gifts in their cities—provided they pay the postage due.

* * *

Hidden Czech Hate.

A U. S. consular official just back from Prague makes the bloody forecast that if Czechoslovakia ever regains her freedom, Prague will see the worst massacre known to modern times.

The killing will be done by the Czechs, who are storing up a relentless and ever increasing hatred for their oppressors, the Germans. First objects of Czech vengeance will be members of the Gestapo (German secret police), and of the black shirt and brown shirt bands. The German soldiers will fare better, because they have been relatively inoffensive and well-behaved.

One of the sorest points with the Czechs is the recent massacre and imprisonment of students. But the crowning insult is the fact that Czech President Hacha is imprisoned in the famous palace which the people of the Republic had donated to their first president, Thomas Masaryk.

Note:—United States has withdrawn its minister from Prague, but maintains a consulate. The consulate offices have moved into what was the legation,—an old castle of more than 100 rooms.

* * *

Merry-Go-Round.

IT'S A FAMILY secret that before Mrs. Roosevelt attended the Dies committee hearings, she discussed the matter with the president and he gave his hearty approval. He disapproves of the committee just as strongly as she. . . . Secretary Henry Wallace may be urging the president to run again, but Mrs. Wallace doesn't think he will. During a recent visit to Des Moines, her home town, she told friends that while she likes Washington she will be glad to go back to Iowa in 1941. . . . John Hamilton has told intimates he does not intend to return to Kansas when he steps down from the GOP national chairmanship next summer. Inside word is that Hamilton has been promised a job by Joe Pew, multi-millionaire oilman and Republican boss of Philadelphia. . . . Recipient of the biggest ovation at the annual dinner of the New York Financial Writers Association, attended by Wall street and Washington notables, was Wendell Willkie, utility mogul who recently attacked Nebraska's veteran liberal Senator George Norris. . . . Ex-President Hoover is taking no chances with the publicity of his Finnish relief drive. Two high-powered New York press agents have been employed.

The Plowman

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

MY NEIGHBOR was plowing in the upland field. The big team of iron gray horses walked with apparent ease. I heard their weighty footsteps beat upon the sod and saw the huge depressions their feet had made in the withered grass and the open furrow. When they reached the end near where I stood the weary team stopped without the driver's voice.

The plowman placed his knees upon the crossbars of the handles and raised the forepart of the beam and heavy double trees eighteen inches high, then called calmly to his team to turn.

The shiny point pierced the sod and the dark fertile soil beneath. The mold board turned a moist, rich furrow slice. It crumbled, mellow, in some places but within the little hollows the low slanting sun reflected on the smooth watery surface just plowed up. The share's keen blade cut myriad grassy fibers and many fleshy tap roots in its path. I noticed several angleworms turned out, with not a single crow, blackbird or starling to devour them. Cocoons were numerous, and gave promise of destructive insects for the summer.

My neighbor's shoes were twice their usual size and many times their weight and he trudged along with difficulty, using the handles frequently for support. His overalls were sleek and grimy to his knees. His old felt hat slouched down upon his ears. His face was ruddy, sharpened by the cold north wind. He worked alone beneath a murky sky plying the most ancient trade that man has known.

How firmly he rests his feet upon the common, elemental things! How the good earth strengthens and enriches him! What faith he has—for many months will pass before harvest time, with risk of drought, frost, insects, hail and flood, yet even now he wisely builds far into the future, and trusts to Providence.

Santa and the TALKING DOLL

by SIGRID ARNE

THE STORY SO FAR: Eric, the son of Lightning, is taking the King of Westphalia, Elsa, and Leezen, the doll, back to Santa Toyshop. The Fairy Queen has told Eric and Leezen they must find a proper queen for Westphalia.

CHAPTER 17
The Five Princesses.

ERIC lay awake long after all the Toyshop had dropped off to happy dreams. "How," worried Eric, "am I to tell who would be the right queen for the King. Maybe the Queen of Fairies will tell me." So he ran out of the Toyshop and blew a trill on his flute. In a twinkling the little Queen was standing on his shoulder. He asked his question.

She said, "Bring all the neighboring princesses here. Watch them and you will see. One will be the kindest. That will be the one."

"But all the princesses are gracious," said Eric.

"Wait and see," said the Queen and she was gone.

So Eric piped up a flock of woods fairies "Go spread the news," he said. "That the King of Westphalia wishes a queen and bring every one back by high noon."

The fairies fluttered off and Eric went back to sleep. Breakfast was merry. Santa sat next to Elsa, and Mrs Santa poured hot chocolate for everyone The King of Westphalia asked Eric what the day would bring there. So Eric laughed mischievously down at Santa and said,

"Sire, you will have a busy day. The news has gone out that you have a famous guest, and there will be visitors. Five or six princesses will be here with their courts by noon."

* * *

A BRAVE COMPANY

"Gracious!" said Mrs. Santa. "We must rush and bake. In a second the Toyshop was in a bustle. Gnomes were sweeping off the walks Fairies were hanging Christmas wreathes. Just before noon Mrs. Santa put on her prettiest dress of white velvet with red holly embroidered around the hem. Elsa combed her hair.

At noon bugles were heard from five hills and there came riding, carrying banners, a brave company behind which rode five beautiful princesses. The first to arrive wore a golden dress. She curtsied to Santa and said, "We have been invited here. And we have ridden all night."

Eric watched, leaning against window frame, standing next to the chair in which Leezen sat. He smiled, quietly and watched the King of Westphalia who was bowing courteously to the company. He obviously didn't know the party was for him.

The whole group banqueted richly. And afterwards one princess sang, one danced, one played a harp, one told stories, and one was so beautiful she did nothing at all.

PROUD PEACOCKS

Eric heard a voice near him say, "Oh, I wish I were as lovely as they." He turned to see Elsa next him and looking wistful. He took her hand and said, "You are lovely to me."

But all the while the princesses were entertaining the company each one kept thinking, "I am more beautiful than all the rest." They looked like proud, cold peacocks.

"Now the test must come," thought Eric. "Something will happen." And it did. A rough little wind opened a window right in back of the King's chair. The King grew cold. He wrapped his robe about him But he was too courteous to rise and spoil the program.

Not one of the princesses saw that he seemed uncomfortable. One danced, one sang, one played the harp, one told stories, and one was so beautiful she did nothing at all.

But some one did slip quietly around the room and close the window. The King smiled a thanks at her. It was Elsa in her old black dress and shawl.

"Why, it's Elsa! It's Elsa!" shouted Eric.

Every one looked terribly surprised at him You see no one but Eric and Lezeen knew the reason for the party.

TOMORROW: Lezeen becomes a spirit of the north.

GARAGE THIEVES WIN PROBATION

Two youths, one 14 and the other 17 were placed on probation by Judge C. J. Anderson when they pleaded guilty in Juvenile court to breaking into two garages in the past six months.

Officers who arrested them at their homes on Lewis avenue said they admitted breaking into a garage at the Uhlich Bakery, Springmill street, at least 15 times and stealing pies and cakes.

They also confessed to breaking into a garage at 512 Bowman street on Oct. 23 and stealing a quantity of lumber.

Informally Speaking...

By MARIANNE

THERE'S only one more shopping day left before Christmas, so the collegians who are returning home today and tomorrow will probably either have to have their Christmas shopping just about all finished up or depend on Santa himself to do it for them. . . . Anne Divelbiss, Margaret Maul, Mary Virginia Turner, William Long, Charles Ireland, Raymond Hainer, Albert Allen and Herbert Lawrence all arrived from Wooster college today. . . . Miami university students who came home this week include Eleanor Frasher, Ellen Cramer, Naomi Giffin, Frances Hanson, Ed Maxwell, Jack Snyder, Richard Grafmiller, Marion Southward, Wilton Morkel and David McGinty.

* * *

Four young girls returned from Joliet, Ill., this week, where they are students at the College of St. Francis—they're all visiting with their parents for the holiday season. . . . Constance Baxter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Baxter; Martha Alexander, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. B. Alexander; Ann Teschler, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. John Teschler, and Mary Katherine Welsch, daughter of U. W. Welsch. . . . And from the sound of things, these girls must be pretty busy at the school with numerous club activities in addition to their studies—Constance, Martha and Mary Katherine all hold membership in the Sodality of Our Lady and the St. Francis club, while Ann, Mary Katherine and Martha are quite active in the Baconian club. . . . Ann and Mary Katherine also belong to the Glee club—and Mary Katherine finds time for a lot of sport activity through her membership in the Women's Athletic association.

* * *

Speaking of busy students—Steve Olin is undoubtedly one of the busiest of all. . . . He's been awarded a major letter in varsity football at DePauw university in Greencastle, Ind. (he was a reserve center this fall and participated in nearly every DePauw game), and last year he also won letters in football and baseball. . . . Steve, who's a junior at the school, is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity, Xi Xi Xi, and the Chemistry club—oh yes, he's quite active in campus politics too. He's at home now, spending the Christmas holiday season with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Olin.

* * *

* * *

Yesterday was the day of days for Robert Coe, as he was graduated from Ohio State university with a degree in business—indeed a nice Christmas present for anyone! His parents, sister and brother, Mr. and Mrs. V. D. Coe, Eleanor and Roger, and another brother, Richard (who is also a student at State) were all present for the exercises—and they all returned home today for the holiday season.

* * *

THERE'S a little mystery of a bell, which Mrs. David N. Roller would appreciate having solved for her. . . . It all happened a number of weeks ago, when she was ill, and a friend (who knows her hobby for collecting bells) took one to her home—but while receiving the bell, the girl who answered the door had a phone and another door to answer, so in the confusion of it all, she forgot the name of the giver! Now this is a lovely bell from an old California mission, and Mrs. Roller would like to express her appreciation to the giver—but she can't learn his identity—she says that anyone who can solve this mystery will really give her the nicest Christmas present ever. . . . So won't somebody please 'fess up?

* * *

Have you seen Mr. and Mrs. Fred Caston's (she was formerly Mildred Taylor) Christmas cards? They have a cunning picture of their young daughter, Cynthia, on them—the Castons live in Cleveland now, you know. . . . And the Wilbur Upsons made some of their own Christmas cards this year—they bear a pencil sketch of their home, are signed with red and green lettering—and even have the paw mark of their dog on them!

* * *

FROM FOLKS HERE AND THERE: Mrs. Lorne Cook (the former Barbara Beer of this city, who now lives in Chicago, Ill.) has just been initiated into Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary society—Barbara was graduated from the University of Chicago last summer, you know, and she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs Jesse Beer—incidentally she and her husband will be here for the holidays. . . . Dr. Robert Angle (a former Mansfielder, whose parents are Mr. and Mrs. John E. Angle) has just completed his interneship at Cook County hospital in Chicago—and he and his wife are leaving next Wednesday for Tucson, Ariz., where he will establish his medical practice. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Robert Quinn and their daughter, Nancy, of Birmingham, Ala., are arriving in town tomorrow afternoon to spend the Christmas holidays with Mrs. Quinn's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. King. . . . Mrs. A. J. Stutz (perhaps better remembered as Mary Alice Kyle) and her young daughter, Julieanne, who will be eight weeks old on Christmas, have returned to their home in Huntington, W. Va., following an extended visit here with Mr. and Mrs. George C. Kyle. . . . Mr. and Mrs. James Jenkins have returned from Havana, Cuba, to spend the holidays in Mansfield and Marion—Mrs. Jenkins is the former Mary Foos. . . . Ed Chatlain will arrive in town tomorrow following a two weeks' tour of eastern colleges with the Wittenberg college varsity basketball team.

SOCIETY & CLUBS

Kitchen Shower For Miss Kramer Held At Linhams

A kitchen shower was an event of yesterday evening for Miss Sarabell Kramer, bride-elect of John VanWagner of Shelby. The party was held at Mrs. Eugene Linham's home on Glenwood boulevard, and the associate hostesses were Miss Eleanor Clingan and Mrs. Norman E. Leonard.

The guests received individual corsages at the beginning of the evening, and bridge was in play at five tables. Score prizes were awarded to Miss Janet Olin and the honoree. Luncheon was served at the small tables following the games. Miss Kramer received a shower of gifts from the guests, and the hostesses gave her a lace tablecloth.

Next Wednesday evening Mr. VanWagner's mother and sister, Mrs. Roy VanWagner and Miss Alice VanWagner, will entertain for Miss Kramer at their home in Shelby. Miss VanWagner, Miss Olin and Miss Emily Burns will be the bride's attendants when the wedding is solemnized at the First Presbyterian church at 7:30 o'clock on the evening of Jan. 1.

Mrs. Haupt Hostess To Pennsylvania Aid

The annual Christmas party of the Women's Aid of the Pennsylvania railroad was held yesterday afternoon at Mrs. Franklin Haupt's home, 483 Parkview street. Mrs. A. E. Swain, Mrs. A. T. Rogers and Mrs. Fred Huess were the associate hostesses.

Mrs. E. W. High conducted the business session, and Mrs. A. E. Planck was the contest prize winner. After an exchange of Christmas gifts, luncheon was served at small tables, decorated with candles and holly. A covered-dish dinner will be an event of Jan. 25 for members of the organization at Mrs. High's home, 173 West Third street.

* * *

PRESENT GIFT.

Miss Mary Alice Lambright, teacher of the Ecclesiastes class of the First Lutheran church, was presented with a gift last night when the members met at the home of Naomi Linsenmayer, 45 Woodward avenue, for a gift exchange. The next meeting will be Jan. 11 at the home of Phyllis Bottomly.

* * *

DINNER PARTY.

A covered-dish dinner was served to members of the R. G. B. club at the home of Mary Rahall, Orchard street, Wednesday night. The girls had a gift exchange and played games. Prizes were won by the hostess and Ann Kovach.

* * *

WIN PRIZES.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Georgia Cook, Mrs. Lloyd Armstrong, Mrs. Earl Penny and Mrs. Cleo Buchter Wednesday evening when Mrs. George Brooker, 32 Prospect street, entertained 16 members of the Ruth Circle class of the First Christian church. Following the business meeting Mrs. Cook gave a story, and she and Mrs. Frank Brannon sang carols. Gifts were exchanged, and luncheon served. Plans were made to meet with Mrs. Buchter, 37 Willow street, Jan. 30.

* * *

EXCHANGE GIFTS.

Members of the We-Ate club exchanged gifts last night when they were entertained at the home of Miss Marjorie Brooks, 405 West Fifth street. Bridge was played, and prizes were won by Miss Margaret Skeese and Mrs. Jack Davis. Lunch was served at small tables decorated with red and green appointments and candles. The next meeting will be held with Miss Elizabeth Leap, 154 Lind avenue, Jan. 18.

Educational Sorority Has Dinner Party At Club

Mrs. Foulke Pours At Circle Tea Thursday

Mrs. R. L. Foulke poured yesterday when a buffet style dessert was served to members of Circle Five of the Central Methodist church by Mrs. H. N. Keene, 105 Sherman avenue, and Mrs. T. G. Myers. There were 13 members and four guests present. The house was attractively decorated with pine and Christmas appointments.

Mrs. A. J. Barker presided during the business meeting, and Mrs. H. W. Peterson led the devotions and told the Christmas legend, and Mrs. R. E. Winters told a seasonal story. Carols were sung. The next meeting will be Jan. 18 at the home of Mrs. Peterson, 429 Park avenue west.

Gift Exchange Feature At Woodville Session

Members of the Woodville Social club enjoyed a gift exchange at the home of Mrs. R. D. McCullough, South Main street road, yesterday. Carols were sung, and Mrs. W. F. Beam gave a story. Bunco was played, and prizes were awarded to Mrs. Rhea Jones and Mrs. Dean Pipes.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. McCullough assisted by Mrs. C .C. Secrist and Mrs. Ella Taylor. The next meeting will be Jan. 5 with Mrs. T. A. Long.

* * *

MAKE COMFORTS.

Members of the Welfare club had a covered-dish dinner in the pavilion at North Lake park yesterday noon. The group made comforts for charity during the afternoon. Mrs. P. W. Backenstos will have the meeting of Jan. 10 at her home, 115 Maple street.

* * *

ANNUAL AFFAIR.

Members of the Companion Sewing circle had their annual Christmas dinner at the First Christian church Wednesday. Gifts were exchanged by the 18 members present, and plans were made for a business meeting Jan. 31 in the K. of P. hall.

* * *

PLAY HEARTS.

Members of L'Amici club were the guests of Mrs. Joseph Mascioli, East Sixth street, when hearts were played yesterday. Prizes were won by Mrs. Henry Chicolani and Mrs. Peter Marfia. Red and green appointments, and tiny Santa Clauses decorated the luncheon tables. Guests were Mrs. Josephine Sgrow and Mrs. Joseph Calarosa. A gift exchange followed. The next meeting will be held Jan. 4 with Mrs. Anthony Mollica, West Sixth street.

ANNOUNCE MARRIAGE.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Myers, 113½ West Third street, announced the marriage of their daughter, Caroline Isabel, today to Damon M. Zellner, son of Mrs. Edith Zellner, 264 Glessner avenue. The ceremony was performed June 3 at Greenup, Ky. They were unattended, and Rev. L. F. Lacks read the service. Both attended Mansfield Senior high school. Mr. Zellner is employed as a gas station attendant. They will make their home at the Glessner avenue address.

* * *

SING CAROLS.

Members of Circle Six of the First Methodist church sang carols yesterday at the home of Mrs. Della Richardson, Penn avenue, when Mrs. Nettie Pittinger assisted. Mrs. Olan LaRue gave the Christmas story, and devotions were led by Mrs. Howard Miller. The circle arranged to serve two dinners at the church next month, and a gift exchange was followed by the serving of refreshments. The next meeting will be held Jan. 18 at the home of Mrs. W. W. Purdy, Park avenue west.

St. Paul Group Has Holiday Dinner In Church Parlors

A covered-dish dinner served at 6:30 p. m. was a feature of the Christmas party held last night by members of the St. Paul Thursday Nighters when they met in the church parlors. Small Christmas trees and red, white and blue tapers decorated the tables and the room. Arrangements were made by Mr. and Mrs. Don Borchardt and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Huck.

Christmas songs were sung by Miss Jane Weuthrick, Lawrence Chamberlain, Rev. and Mrs. H. L. Gilbert, after which Rev. Gilbert gave the Van Dyke story, "The Other Wise Man." Carols were sung with Miss Louise Seybold as accompanist.

Contests followed, and a shower of gifts for the newly furnished nursery at the church was presented. The January meeting will be another covered-dish dinner at 6:30 p. m. Jan. 18. Arrangements are in charge of the Misses Elizabeth Bollman and Alice Miller, Lawrence Chamberlain and Pete Rebel.

* * *

LUNCHEON SERVED.

Members of the Good Will club had a Christmas dinner yesterday noon at McCoy's restaurant. This was followed by a gift exchange and social hour at the home of Mrs. William Reed, 9 East Second street, during the afternoon. The next meeting of the club will be held on Jan. 4.

* * *

AUXILIARY HOSTESS.

Mrs. F. R. Stahl opened her home on Wood street last night for the business meeting and Christmas party of the Auxiliary to the Firemen's local. Gifts were exchanged, and prizes were given Mrs. Charles Seeburger and Mrs. Leo Saltzgaber. The hostess used appropriate decorations when she served refreshments later in the evening. Mrs. Carl Maul, South Foster street, has invited the auxiliary to her home Jan. 18.

* * *

HAVE 2 GUESTS.

Two guests and 13 members were present at the meeting of the Nitelark club which was held Thursday with Mrs. Walter Isenberg, 20 Lexington avenue. Gifts were exchanged, and prizes in the games went to Mrs. F. B. Thompson and Mrs. Lee Bartlett. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be Jan. 11 with Mrs. Bartlett.

Alumnae Members To Be Guests Of Active Club

Final arrangements for the party of Delta Sigma Zeta were made last night when members met at the home of Miss Patty Palmer, Park avenue west, with Miss Frances Brown assisting. Members of the committee include Theresa Sprosty, Charlotte Paste, Marjorie Scott, Marilou Sowash, Maxine Bush, Patty Olin, and Joan Watson. Alumnae members will be guests at this affair, which will be held at Miss Ruth Preston's, Dec. 28.

All the members brought articles for the Christmas basket which Miss Preston and Miss Marjorie Boals are packing for welfare. A Christmas grab-bag followed the meeting, and refreshments were served. Miss Patty Olin will be hostess for the next regular meeting, and Miss Paste will assist.

MAKE PLANS.

Final arrangements for a Christmas basket were made last night when members of Beta Kappa Tau met at the club rooms. The Misses Wilma Sauger, Margaret Oakes and Marjorie Ruhlan and Mrs. Myron Hilligoss were appointed to take charge of the basket. The next regular meeting will be held Jan. 4.

* * *

CIRCLE HOSTESS.

Miss Edna Ward, 655 Park avenue west, was hostess yesterday to members of Circle Five of the First Methodist church. She was assisted by Mrs. Charles Benedict and Mrs. B. N. Whitten. Devotions were led by Mrs. E. G. Corwin and Mrs. Clarence Lisle gave a Christmas story. Suitable appointments were used when luncheon was served. The next meeting will be held Jan. 18 with Mrs. Lisle, 238 Blymyer avenue.

Two Guests Present At Druscilla Meeting

Mrs. Jenny Rusk and Miss May Gates were guests of the Druscilla club yesterday afternoon for a meeting at the home of Mrs. J. O. Baker on Flint street. Miss Gates, who is from Pittsburgh, Pa., is the house guest of Mrs. J. O. Hartenfels.

Following a gift exchange and social hour, luncheon was served at a long table, decorated in keeping with the Christmas spirit. The January meeting will be held at Mrs. Staiger's tea room on Glessner avenue, and the date will be announced later.

* * *

WELCOME MEMBERS.

There were 38 members of the Newman Mothers' club present for a meeting at the school Wednesday afternoon. Four new members were welcomed to the organization during the meeting. Miss Marie Hoover's room received the attendance award. Mrs. Harry Roberts, Mrs. Robert Simpson, Mrs. Richard Strolein and Mrs. Conrad Reale were the hostesses. The next meeting at the school will be held on Jan. 17. The club members had a Santa Claus, Christmas tree and program for pupils of the school this morning.

* * *

CHOOSE SISTERS.

Members of the U-Name-It club chose secret sisters last night following the exchange of gifts at the home of Miss Elizabeth Schadek, 378 First avenue. Pinochle was played and prizes were won by Miss Elizabeth Booz, Mrs. Jacob Rupanovic, Miss Mildred Ohler and Mrs. Aubrey Thrush. The center of the long table at which luncheon was served was decorated with a tree and lighted tapers, and each place was marked with an individual tree. The next meeting will be Jan. 3 with Mrs. Thrush, 28 Spruce street.

BRIDGE DIVERSION AT EVENING EVENTS

AT LEAST two special holiday parties were features of last night's entertainment program when the Red Cross Production unit No. 1 and the Joan of Arc Study club entertained at Mansfield tea rooms. The first group had a dinner party for husbands at the Towne House with bridge later in the evening, and a Santa Claus who gave presents to all.

Prizes were won by Mr. and Mrs. Ray Painter, Mrs. Charles Arbaugh, Mrs. M. L. Smith, Edwin Eichin and Verne Lersch. Tiny trees were used for the decorations. Plans were made to hold the next regular meeting at the home of Mrs. William J. Locke, Sherman avenue, Jan. 26. The party was arranged by Mrs. Arbaugh, Mrs. Leopold Adams and Mrs. Walter Becker.

* * *

A Santa Claus and reindeer and lighted tapers decorated the table at which luncheon was served to the members of the study club last night after they played bridge at the Susie Janis home on the Park avenue west road.

Prizes were won by Mrs. Verba Kanary, Mrs. Dwight Maxwell and Mrs. Joseph Seibert. Christmas poems and a gift exchange were features of the evening.

The party was planned by Miss Mary Rizzo and Mrs. A. E. Weakland. The next meeting will be held Jan. 18 with Mrs. Maxwell as hostess. Miss Marie Hecht will give the program.

West Not Always Romantic

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

"Isn't it just too sweet and romantic," people were purring a few years ago when a college president's daughter eloped with a dude ranch cowboy.

No musty, fusty, college professor for her, but a real man who could ride like the wind, shoot straight—a man from the great open spaces and the far-flung horizon. The girl was very pretty and popular, and a number of young men connected wth institutions of learning must have envied the dude rancher mightily.

In imagination one can see them burning the midnight oil in disgust, thumbing over college papers and thinking how wonderful it would be to lead the life of the range—no wonder girls seem to fall for these ten-gallon hat boys. You could hardly pick up a paper without reading how some dude rancher had eloped with an heiress.

Well, it seems there were discouraging words a-plenty in the life of the charming girl who is just getting a divorce from her dude rancher. They eloped in 1934 and it looked that day in the wine-clear air of Wyoming morning as if life would be one grand sweet song.

Wild gallops over the range, gorgeous sunsets, home in a log cabin (with all the modern conveniences, of course) and none of the tedium of paying calls, going to boring functions and being a slave to fashions.

Everything was going to be so different with the hero who wore a ten-gallon hat. And life was indeed different. For, only last week, the young lady accused her husband of using liquor to excess, and while under the influence of liquor, of striking her, threatening her with a revolver, and using profanity.

This is what makes marriage with some one wholly outside of one's own world a terrible risk. A girl is gambling her whole life on qualities with which she is more familiar in books and plays than in real life

In literature, a ten-gallon hat stands for a heart of gold, especially if it's a light hat.

This reporter, having lived in the wide open spaces where men are men, know that multitudes of real cowboys are chivalrous, even when they are diamonds in the rough. But they're the genuine article, men who ride the range in the teeth of blizzards, who accept the loneliness and the hardships as being all in the day's work. They have in spite of the emancipation of the modern girl, an almost fanatical respect for women

But these genuine cowboys one does not always find on dude ranches. They're apt to regard that as sissy work, and they leave the job of showing tourists about to make-believe cowboys.

Whether a cowboy is real or genuine, it's just as well not to elope. Invite him "back East," and see how he looks in that environment. Ofter the magic disappears when he takes off his ten-gallon hat.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

I laughed indulgently at Lillian's choleric reference to Olina.

"Sometimes," I drawled, "I get the impression that you are not properly impressed by our lovely royal guest, the Princess Olina, exiled from Transvania. Indeed, a stranger might deduce that you did not like her."

"Bah!" she said, "and again, bah! bah! That's what I think of her, and if you stand up for her, it'll be the same to you, and many of 'em"

"I'm standing up for her," I protested, "except—"

"Yes, you are," she said "That 'except' proves it. But go on! I'm curious to hear what defense of her your well-known kind heart can pump up Except what?"

"Except," I said stoutly, "that I do not think she's quite a 'hell cat.' 'Hell kitten' would be nearer my idea of her."

She gave me a withering look "I'd like to get hold of the nurse you had when you were a baby," she said. "I'd wring a confession out of her as to which particular floor came in contact with your head the time she dropped you. I'll bet it was concrete. 'Kitten' forsooth! She's young, I'll admit, but there the likeness ceases. She's dynamite—also danger."

"I'll admit all that," I said, "but I believe a lot of her malicious mischief—"

"Glad you recognize that much," Lillian interrupted viciously.

"—is due to her virtual imprisonment here with no excitement." I went on, ignoring her comment, and she struck in again.

"And no man of her own to dance attendance on her," she amended. "I'll grant you this much, if we could marry Olina off to some big he-man, prince or peasant, who would promise to beat the stuffing out of her her every Saturday night, whether she needed it or not, I think she might turn out to be quite a woman. But as she is, I say she's a hell cat, and what I says I sticks to. See?"

"That is wholly superfluous information," I told her, laughing "I have never known you to swerve from that principle But if you can stop abusing Olina, I'd like to tell you of an adventure I had with her just now."

"Abusing her!" She lifted both hands toward the ceiling "Giving her a proper cognomen, that's all But a truce to all that! Tell me your tale!"

In as few words as possible, I told her of Olina's surreptitious call to Philip Veritzen, of the conversation I had overheard, and also of what Mary had told me concerning Olina's wish to play a harp during one act of my play. She barely gave me time to finish that revelation, which I had left to the last, before exploding with laughter, which she managed with great difficulty to keep at low pitch.

"Does she, by any chance, want to attach a pair of white wings to her shoulders, and have a wire concealed which will waft her up to Heaven—alias the flies?" she demanded. "That might be managed—page Little Eva in Uncle Tom's Cabin. But I warn you right now: They couldn't lift her harp up with her without a derrick, which I'm afraid would not be Phil Veritzen's idea of a swell stage effect—and what would an angel do without her harp? It simply wouldn't be the thing at all."

I was helpless with laughter by the time she had finished, and she grinned indulgently at me.

"I knew I ought not to be as funny as I could'," she quoted. "But you could do with a good laugh. Go on, get it out of your system. And then you might tell me what's on your mind. I have a sneaking suspicion that there's more to this harp thing than meets the eye."

"There is," I told her. "By the queerest of coincidences, there's a spot in one of the scenes where a girl, as decorative as Olina, playing a harp in the background, would be most effective. And I could write her in ten or a dozen words to say which would give her the feeling that she really belonged."

"Look here!" she said tensely, "there wouldn't be any possibility of her stealing the scene from Mary, would there?"

Roscoe Crall, Charles Enzor and L. E. Wacker returned home Saturday from a hunting trip to Pennsylvania. Mr. Wacker and Mr. Enzor each brought a deer home with them.

THEATERS

Like so many New England visitors, Bette Davis has come away with a farm. She bought it in northern New Hampshire. There is an old house and barn on the place. She'll have the house torn down and remodel the barn for living quarters. . . . "Gulliver's Travels," new film opus, promises to be what the lense-boys call "terrific" . . . The title of the Joan Crawford-Clark Gable picture has been changed from "Not Too Narrow, Not Too Deep," which was too long even if it failed in other dimensions, to "Strange Cargo." . . . Edward Arnold's autobiography "Lorenzo Goes to Hollywood" has just been published. . . . Something entirely new in murder trials will be seen in "The Earl of Chicago" in which an Englishman is tried before the House of Lords. . . .

* * *

Right or Wrong.

When Kay Kyser, famous band leader was signed to make a picture, there was a frantic search for a story The producers agreed that the old boy-meets-girl, success-story theme was threadbare and couldn't be used—and so they used that very theme in a most original manner. The plot revolves around the studios' search for a suitable story of Kyser, and everybody in the cast plays himself, with Adolphe Menjou as the frantic producer. "That's Right, You're Wrong" is booked at the Madison for four days, starting tomorrow and all of these popular players are in it—May Robson, Lucille Ball, Dennis O'Keefe, Edward Everett Horton and Roscoe Karns.

* * *

They're Married Now.

The "Four Daughters" become "Four Wives" in the picture of that title which the Ohio presents Saturday. The ten principal characters of the first picture carry on in the sequel, with the exception of John Garfield who was killed in the first story. Two of the girls are already married when the story opens and the romances of the other two are continued. The four wives are Rosemary, Priscilla and Lola Lane and Gale Page, and the four husbands are Jeffrey Lynn, Frank McHugh, Dick Foran and Eddie Albert. Garfield is shown only as a pictured memory. Claude Rains is the father again and a new addition to the cast is May Robson.

* * *

Johnny to the Rescue.

Banditry, cattle rustling and mysterious outlaw raids bring Johnny Mack Brown to the Western cow town of Denton to restore order, and there you have the theme in a nutshell of "Desperate Trails," which the Ritz is showing today and tomorrow. Bob Baker and Fuzzy Knight are in the cast. "Death of a Champion" introduces Oliver Quade, a comedy sleuth of fiction, to the screen, with Lynne Overman as Quade.

* * *

"Timber Stampede."

There are tricks in all trades and when a pair of crooks want to get hold of extensive timber rights in a rich timber country, they promote a railroad and secure a 20-mile-wide right of way. They meet their first opposition in George O'Brien, a cattleman. Sally Eilers and Allan Lane head the cast of "They Made Her a Spy," a story of today, which tops the Park bill. Saturday morning the Park will give a "can matinee" for children, with a new bill.

* * *

Plays Dual Role.

Col. Tim McCoy plays a dual role in "Outlaws Paradise," a Majestic feature. He is seen first as a law enforcement officer of the FBI and then because of his marked resemblance to a gang chieftain who is in prison, he plays the chief. A postoffice robbery starts the action. Glenda Farrell plays a super newspaperwoman of movie conception in "Torchy Gets Her Man," the second film at the Majestic.

"The Authority on Authorities"

ABANDON THE RULES

We all have rules for leading, classing some leads as desirable and others as undesirable. These are meant to guide us when we are in the dark and have not seen the dummy. But when we have had a good look at it and also learned sundry things about the situation, our job is to substitute plain ordinary common sense for those rules.

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

Here North bid 1-Club. South 1-Spade, North 1-No Trump and South 3-No Trumps. East led the diamond jack to the ace and then took the second club trick He returned another diamond, whereupon the declarer took the rest of the tricks.

It should have been perfectly clear to East that a second diamond lead was futile and that the same was true of a spade lead. The side's only chance to accomplish anything was in hearts. The return of a small heart, hoping to find West with the ace, would have prevented overtricks on the deal.

Tomorrow's Problem.

(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

If East doubles North's opening spade bid and then gets into 4-Diamonds, which North doubles, what should South lead?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, Dec. 23.

Particularly lively and pleasant activities are spurred into regulation holiday enterprise by the predominant lanetary configurations. In all deartments of living a spirit of enterprise and good will is shown, with much stirring about, commotion, excitement, but nothing to mar or becloud. High romance and adventure abound, with mystical corollaries not wanting.

Those whose birthday it is have the happy auguries of a prosperous, progressive and successful year, with new as well as old matters under fine stimuli for achievement. Change of importance, with romantic adventure, looms large, although the accent seems to be on domestic, social, artistic or sentimental occupations and preoccupations. It should be a joyous year. . .

A child born on this day may be endowed with all the factors and endowments for a successful, happy and useful life. It may be enterprising, constructive, adventurous and audacious, as well as having all the finer graces and aspirations.

"Glad you recognize that much," Lillian interrupted viciously.

"—is due to her virtual imprisonment here with no excitement," I went on, ignoring her comment, and she struck in again.

"And no man of her own to dance attendance on her," she amended. "I'll grant you this much, if we could marry Olina off to some big he-man, prince or peasant, who would promise to beat the stuffing out of her her every Saturday night, whether she needed it or not, I think she might turn out to be quite a woman. But as she is, I say she's a hell cat, and what I says I sticks to. See?"

"That is wholly superfluous information," I told her, laughing. "I have never known you to swerve from that principle But if you can stop abusing Olina, I'd like to tell you of an adventure I had with her just now."

"Abusing her!" She lifted both hands toward the ceiling. "Giving her a proper cognomen, that's all But a truce to all that! Tell me your tale!"

In as few words as possible, I told her of Olina's surreptitious call to Philip Veritzen, of the conversation I had overheard, and also of what Mary had told me concerning Olina's wish to play a harp during one act of my play. She barely gave me time to finish that revelation, which I had left to the last, before exploding with laughter, which she managed with great difficulty to keep at low pitch.

"Does she, by any chance, want to attach a pair of white wings to her shoulders, and have a wire concealed which will waft her up to Heaven—alias the flies?" she demanded. "That might be managed—page Little Eva in Uncle Tom's Cabin. But I warn you right now: They couldn't lift her harp up with her without a derrick, which I'm afraid would not be Phil Veritzen's idea of a swell stage effect—and what would an angel do without her harp? It simply wouldn't be the thing at all."

I was helpless with laughter by the time she had finished, and she grinned indulgently at me.

"I knew I ought not to be as funny as I could'," she quoted. "But you could do with a good laugh. Go on, get it out of your system. And then you might tell me what's on your mind. I have a sneaking suspicion that there's more to this harp thing than meets the eye."

"There is." I told her. "By the queerest of coincidences, there's a spot in one of the scenes where a girl, as decorative as Olina, playing a harp in the background, would be most effective. And I could write her in ten or a dozen words to say which would give her the feeling that she really belonged."

"Look here!" she said tensely, "there wouldn't be any possibility of her stealing the scene from Mary, would there?"

THEATERS

Like so many New England visitors, Bette Davis has come away with a farm. She bought it in northern New Hampshire. There is an old house and barn on the place. She'll have the house torn down and remodel the barn for living quarters. . . . "Gulliver's Travels," new film opus, promises to be what the lense-boys call "terrific" . . . The title of the Joan Crawford-Clark Gable picture has been changed from "Not Too Narrow, Not Too Deep," which was too long even if it failed in other dimensions, to "Strange Cargo." . . . Edward Arnold's autobiography "Lorenzo Goes to Hollywood" has just been published. . . . Something entirely new in murder trials will be seen in "The Earl of Chicago" in which an Englishman is tried before the House of Lords. . . .

* * *

Right or Wrong.

When Kay Kyser, famous band leader was signed to make a picture, there was a frantic search for a story. The producers agreed that the old boy-meets-girl, success-story theme was threadbare and couldn't be used—and so they used that very theme in a most original manner. The plot revolves around the studios' search for a suitable story of Kyser, and everybody in the cast plays himself, with Adolphe Menjou as the frantic producer. "That's Right, You're Wrong" is booked at the Madison for four days, starting tomorrow and all of these popular players are in it—May Robson, Lucille Ball, Dennis O'Keefe, Edward Everett Horton and Roscoe Karns.

* * *

They're Married Now.

The "Four Daughters" become "Four Wives" in the picture of that title which the Ohio presents Saturday. The ten principal characters of the first picture carry on in the sequel, with the exception of John Garfield who was killed in the first story. Two of the girls are already married when the story opens and the romances of the other two are continued. The four wives are Rosemary, Priscilla and Lola Lane and Gale Page, and the four husbands are Jeffrey Lynn, Frank McHugh, Dick Foran and Eddie Albert. Garfield is shown only as a pictured memory. Claude Rains is the father again and a new addition to the cast is May Robson.

* * *

Johnny to the Rescue.

Banditry, cattle rustling and mysterious outlaw raids bring Johnny Mack Brown to the Western cow town of Denton to restore order, and there you have the theme in a nutshell of "Desperate Trails," which the Ritz is showing today and tomorrow. Bob Baker and Fuzzy Knight are in the cast. "Death of a Champion" introduces Oliver Quade, a comedy sleuth of fiction, to the screen, with Lynne Overman as Quade.

* * *

"Timber Stampede."

There are tricks in all trades and when a pair of crooks want to get hold of extensive timber rights in a rich timber country, they promote a railroad and secure a 20-mile-wide right of way. They meet their first opposition in George O'Brien, a cattleman. Sally Eilers and Allan Lane head the cast of "They Made Her a Spy," a story of today, which tops the Park bill. Saturday morning the Park will give a "can matinee" for children, with a new bill.

Plays Dual Role.

Col. Tim McCoy plays a dual role in "Outlaws Paradise," a Majestic feature. He is seen first as a law enforcement officer of the FBI and then because of his marked resemblance to a gang chieftain who is in prison, he plays the chief. A postoffice robbery starts the action. Glenda Farrell plays a super newspaperwoman of movie conception in "Torchy Gets Her Man," the second film at the Majestic.

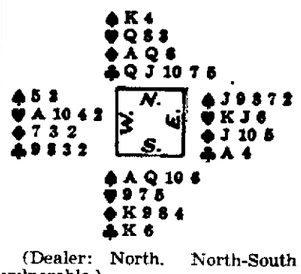
ABANDON THE RULES

We all have rules for leading, classing some leads as desirable and others as undesirable. These are meant to guide us when we are in the dark and have not seen the dummy. But when we have had a good look at it and also learned sundry things about the situation, our job is to substitute plain ordinary common sense for those rules.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

Here North bid 1-Club. South 1-Spade, North 1-No Trump and South 3-No Trumps. East led the diamond jack to the ace and then took the second club trick. He returned another diamond, whereupon the declarer took the rest of the tricks.

It should have been perfectly clear to East that a second diamond lead was futile and that the same was true of a spade lead. The side's only chance to accomplish anything was in hearts. The return of a small heart, hoping to find West with the ace, would have prevented overtricks on the deal.

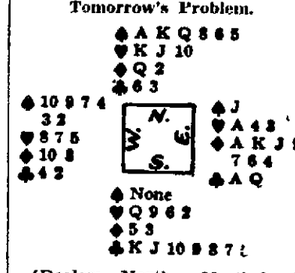
Tomorrow's Problem.



(Dealer: North. North-South vulnerable.)

If East doubles North's opening spade bid and then gets into 4-Diamonds, which North doubles, what should South lead?

HOROSCOPE

For Saturday, Dec. 23.

Particularly lively and pleasant activities are spurred into regulation holiday enterprise by the predominant lanetary configurations. In all deartments of living a spirit of enterprise and good will is shown, with much stirring about, commotion, excitement, but nothing to mar or becloud. High romance and adventure abound, with mystical corollaries not wanting.

Those whose birthday it is have the happy auguries of a prosperous, progressive and successful year, with new as well as old matters under fine stimuli for achievement. Change of importance, with romantic adventure, looms large, although the accent seems to be on domestic, social, artistic or sentimental occupations and preoccupations. It should be a joyous year.

A child born on this day may be endowed with all the factors and endowments for a successful, happy and useful life. It may be enterprising, constructive, adventurous and audacious, as well as having all the finer graces and aspirations for the hard-fighting Finns was uncertain.

NORTHERN REDS FLEEING BITTER COLD IN ARCTIC

One Norwegian report said the abandonment of captured territory by the Russians was "precipitate." Some Red army soldiers were reported to have frozen to death and others to be suffering in the bitter cold. Observers said the troops alternately rode and walked in order to keep from freezing in falling back to the Petsamo port corridor.

The Russians apparently had marched into a bleak and uninhabitable area, desolated by the Finns who had left towns and villages in ashes. The invaders were understood to be in acute need of shelter.

The situation at sea was described by military observers as "well in hand." The newspaper Politiken reported the 8,500-ton Russian cruiser Kirov had sunk in the Gulf of Finland en route from Tallinn, Estonia, to Leningrad.

Russian Bombers Drop Pamphlets on Helsinki.

HELSINKI—(AP)—Three Soviet planes appeared during a driving snowstorm over Helsinki this afternoon and dropped large batches of pamphlets but no bombs. The pamphlets drifted seaward.

The air raid warning was given at 1:10 p. m. (6:10 a. m. EST) and the "all clear" signal at 1:48 p. m. Snow stopped falling about this time and the planes could be seen circling for ten minutes.

The Finns fired anti-aircraft guns and even some rifles at the planes, but there evidently were no hits.

Finnish reports from the northern front meanwhile said the Soviet air force had been active in the Lapland region yesterday, as well as in the south.

The Finns said they were continuing their advance in the Petsamo sector, where the Russians were reported in a general retreat.

Fighting continued on the Karelian isthmus, where the Finns said they were still holding their lines and Russian attacks were thrown back.

Finnish troops were reported withstanding heavy Russian onslaughts on the eastern and Isthmian fronts and in pursuit of Red army forces in the Arctic.

Despite encouraging news from the battlefronts, the Finns watched the skies anxiously in the hope of bad weather that might bring a respite from three successive days of Russian air raids.

Nazi Warplanes Sink British Trawler.

OSLO—(AP)—The sinking of a British trawler by two German warplanes was disclosed with the arrival of survivors today at Kopervik, Norway.

The trawler was the 204-ton River Annan, which was sunk while carrying the Danish crew of the 1,214-Ton freighter Bogo, which itself sank after striking a mine Dec. 19.

The survivors of both vessels were picked up by the Norwegian vessel Rogaland after they had been afloat for 36 hours and were brought to Kopervik.

France's War Dead 1,433, Daladier Says.

PARIS—(AP)—Premier Daladier, making France's first official announcement of war casualties, told the chamber of deputies today that the death roll for all services up to Nov. 30 had been 1,433 men

Regarding Finland Daladier said, without explaining definitely what he meant, that France "has accomplished her duty" toward Finland after the League of Nations condemned Russia's aggression.

"Let me say to you," he said, "that the same evening the League pronounced its condemnation we, in the framework of the covenant, carried out our entire duty." He added that it was "in a measure which is not inconsiderable."

On Tuesday the allied supreme war council, meeting for three hours at the French war ministry, discussed the Finnish situation and was reported to have decided to give to Finland all the moral and material aid possible without weakening the allies' front against Germany.

LONDON —(AP)— The 8,053-ton British oil tanker Dosinia reached port today listing slightly as a result of a mine explosion She was accompanied by a lifeboat which took off 40 members of her crew.

car. Both were captured in Marion.

If Montgomery escapes conviction on the robbery and kidnaping charges, he may be charged in Crawford county with auto theft, Marriott said

Scorning the offer of Harry Borland, 25, of 99 East Fourth street, to marry a 13-year-old Pavonia girl whom he admitted assaulting last Saturday night, Judge Huston sentenced Borland to one to 20 years in the Ohio penitentiary.

"That's adding insult to injury," Judge Huston asserted when Borland said he would marry the girl The court also refused to consider Borland's plea to release him so he could join the navy.

"They wouldn't have you, because you are a menace to society," Judge Huston said

Borland, who admitted luring the girl to his room, has served a term in the Mansfield reformatory for breaking and entering and was previously cited in probate court for molesting girls.

Oral Hinkle, 266, his companion in the assault case Saturday night, is serving a six months term in the county jail for contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

Innocent pleas were entered today by Alvin Guthrie, accused of auto theft, and Clarence Lape, indicted for assault and battery.

Judge Huston said the defendants who pleaded innocent will be tried during the week of Jan. 2.

Paul Paraske, Mansfield, indicted for second degree manslaughter, is free under bond and will be arraigned Saturday morning.

Ralph Copeland, colored, a reformatory inmate who was indicted for assault with intent to kill, will be arraigned later, Prosecutor Marriott said.

HELD FOR JURY

Man Accused of Trying to Set Loudonville Jail Afire.

ASHLAND — Charged with attempting to burn down the Loudonville village jail, George Raby, 31, is being held in the Ashland county jail in lieu of $1,000 bond.

Mayor E. L. Smith of Loudonville bound Raby over to the grand jury one a charge of arson.

Raby was originally arrested in Loudonville by Marshall A. B. Conrad on charges of intoxication, but while he was in the jail he attempted to set fire to it, it is charged.

Raby is said to have told officials that he accidentally set his pants on fire.

In jail as a material witness is James Murphy, 39.

BISHOP HURT IN FALL

CLEVELAND —(AP)— Auxiliary Bishop James A. McFadden of the Cleveland Catholic diocese was among 17 persons injured yesterday in falls on icy sidewalks. He suffered a broken ankle.

DRIVER HURT DIRECTING TRAFFIC AFTER HIS TRUCK BREAKS DOWN

Struck at 9:30 p. m. yesterday on route 42, south of Lexington, while directing traffic around his truck which broke down, Harry L. Slater, 58, of Bellevue was in General hospital today with a fractured ankle and head lacerations. Slater was one of four persons hurt in three accidents reported in this vicinity yesterday afternoon and evening by state highway patrolmen.

Slater suffered a fracture of his right ankle, and three lacerations about the head which required seven stitches to close, when hit by a machine driven by H A. Ball, 42, of Cannelton, Ind., patrolmen said.

He was standing in front of his truck which partially blocked the highway at the time of the accident. The truck backed into a ditch when an axle on the tractor broke Ball said his auto skidded on the highway in an effort to stop after seeing the lanterns and flares that Slater had placed around his truck. Ball took Slater to the hospital.

Three Bellville residents suffered minor injuries when the car in which they were riding skidded on the icy highway at 6 p. m. Friday on route 13, north of Bellville, running off the highway.

The automobile was driven by Glenn Parks, Bellville, who received chin lacerations. With him were his wife, Carrie, who suffered cuts on the right arm and leg, and Mrs. Parks' sister, Miss Freeman of Bellville, who received a cut on the head and shock. All were treated by a Bellville physician.

Parks was following a car driven by Jacob Monroe also of Bellville, which skidded on the highway, and struck a guard rail. He was not injured.

Merle Milligan, 31, of R. D. 1 Perrysville, escaped injuries at 4:40 p. m. Thursday when his car skidded on the icy highway and ran into the brace pole of a power pole on route 39, south of Lucas. The impact broke the pole in half, patrolmen said.

12 INJURED IN LONDON BLASTS

Republican Army Blamed for New Bomb Outrages.

LONDON —(INS)— Twelve persons were under treatment for injuries today after 19 incendiary bombs believed to have been set by the illegal Irish Republican army burst in postoffices throughout Britain, destroying hundreds of letters.

Late last evening the blasts began when bombs exploded in four London postoffices. A little later there were similar explosions in Birmingham and Walverhampton.

This morning four more bombs burst in two other London postoffices. Fires broke out in two mail boxes at Crewe.

ACT TO SAVE U. S. WHEAT SUPPLY

Government Considers Withdrawing From World Export Market.

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Faced by the prospect of one of the shortest winter wheat crops in recent years, the United States soon may withdraw from the world export market to conserve supplies for domestic use.

An agriculture department forecast of a 1940 winter wheat yield of only 399,000,000 bushels—164,000,000 below this year's normal crop of 563,000,000—might result, farm officials said, in a crop of 75,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels below needs for the 1940 season.

Next year's harvest will depend largely on weather conditions between now and next summer and the area planted to spring wheat.

The short story deals with two partners in business. The sum of $500 which belongs to someone else has been stolen from the safe and each partner, knowing the other's difficulties at home, suspects the other of having taken it. In their efforts to shield each other, both commit suicide and confess taking the money.

"Jim Morley thought of Phil's wife and children. Certainly they would be terribly effected if Phil were accused, much less convicted of this crime. Certainly it was not Phil's. Phil surely had a tough time of it; keeping two children in high school cost money, and while Dorothy was a loving wife, she spent quite a bit of money unnecessarily. But of course, a woman had to do something to relieve the monotony, or go mad in the semi-obscurity of the small mid-western town. Jim paced slowly back and forth, thinking of his associations with Phil. Phil had so much to live for, to remain free for. Life to Jim was not sweet, nor was it bitter. For him the spice of life was gone. He had one tragedy in his life, though most of the people of the world would have called him crazy, had he spoken of it."

Young Morey used a fantastic theme but it was chosen by the judges because "it shows imagination, a distinct style and creative ability."

His story was entitled "A German Beggar" and the theme is unfolded in a series of letters between two Germans in the year 1950. One resides in America and the other in Berlin.

In the letters from the man in Berlin is a picture of Germany struggling back to rationalism after Naziism has been discredited. He tells of the return of the churches to Germany and the abandonment of the concentration camps. In several of his letters he speaks of an unknown street corner orator who tries to revive interest in Naziism. The American is interested in the identity of the street beggar, and writes his friend in Berlin: "Why should they treat as a criminal one who expresses his mind concerning the ideals which were the German people's choice in 1939 and which, just ten short years ago threatened to spread over the earth? It doesn't make sense, to say the least."

In reply to his query the American German receives a copy of a "case record" of the beggar who has been confined to the only concentration camp left in Germany. The name of the beggar was Adolf Hitler.

In his final letter, which encloses the "case record," Kris writes:

Berlin, Germany
101 Utt Wia
January 10, 1951

My dear Wilhelm:

No, Wilhelm, our Germany is not returning to sovereign rule. It is still the free, would that I could say 'ever free,' country which it started to be in '42 when the Nazi government was overthrown by the German people.

Freedom of speech is prevalent. Naziism is the only exception. You know what a "saviour" it proved to us German people. We want no more of it! Therefore it is banned and looked down upon by our nation.

In your American way you undoubtedly reason 'it doesn't make sense' when a man is taken to prison for advocating an 'ism'—even Naziism.

For your sake, in order to end your perplexion, I looked up in the police history book the record of the beggar whom you refer to! The record, which I copied and write to you herewith, with an enclosed news clipping is self-explanatory.

Your tried and trusted friend,
Kris Freiheit

HOLIDAY MAIL TAPERING OFF

Outgoing Volume and Stamp Sales Drop But Incoming Mail Increases.

With incoming mail at the Mansfield post office showing an increase yesterday and today, the volume of outgoing mail began to drop off, Postmaster Herman E. Homberger said.

Card and letter cancellations yesterday numbered 124,200, a decrease of about 20,000 from Wednesday's record cancellation of 146,400. Incoming mail yesterday and today was the heaviest this season, Homberger said.

Sale of postage stamps in smaller denominations yesterday was also under the figures for the first part of the week. Yesterday a total of 50,000 stamps in the small denominations were sold. These included 30,000 one-and-a-half cent stamps, 10,000 two-cent, and 10,000 three-cent stamps. Since Dec. 1 a total of 420,000 one-and-a-half cent stamps have been sold at the office.

A record was set Wednesday in New York City when a total of 17,508,033 pieces of mail, the greatest volume ever handled by any post office in the world, passed through the New York post office, dispatches said today.

For late mailers windows at the office will remain open until 7 p. m. today, but will close Saturday at 6 p. m., Homberger said. Deliveries by carriers will be made Saturday morning and afternoon in an effort to clean up all incoming mail by Christmas. Only gift parcels and special delivery mail will be delivered Christmas day.

Bricker Calls 'Soup Kitchen' Offer New Deal Politics

CHARGES U. S. ATTEMPTING TO 'SMEAR' OHIO

Governor Answers Roosevelt Suggestion to Aid Hungry With Blistering Attack.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS—Gov. John W. Bricker charged today that "politics" motivated a Roosevelt administration statement that it was ready to set up soup kitchens to save Ohio's poor from starvation, and stood pat on a claim that WPA had been manipulated in the state.

"If soup kitchens are put in Cleveland or elsewhere in Ohio, it will be purely for New Deal political effect," said a Bricker statement yesterday after John Owens, Ohio CIO leader, reported President Roosevelt ready for such a step if starvation threatened reliefers.

Call Situations 'Serious.'

Owens informed the president in Washington that Cleveland and Toledo relief privations were serious, despite reports from officials of those cities and Governor Bricker that the situations were well in hand.

The governor reiterated his claim that WPA manipulations caused the relief crises but declined to be drawn into a dispute with Col. F. C. Harrington, federal works administrator, over the matter.

Harrington challenged Bricker and Gov. Arthur James of Pennsylvania to prove charges of WPA manipulations in those states and said he had asked Bricker by letter to accept his part of the Ohio relief responsibility.

Governor Bricker declared responsibility for soup kitchens in Ohio would "rest entirely with the CIO, the Workers' Alliance and Mr. Roosevelt."

"We are able to properly operate the state government of Ohio without the assistance of Mr. John Owens of the CIO or Mr. David Lasser of the Workers' Alliance," Bricker added. "Possibly the government of the United States would not be in the shape it is in today if federal authorities could say the same."

Lasser recently called at the White House to present relief pleas and demanded that Bricker act to save Ohioans he claimed were starving.

"Mr. Owens and the New Deal tried to elect a governor of Ohio last year and he and his candidate were overwhelmingly repudiated," Bricker continued. "Defeated by the majority of voters, he and his New Deal conspirators are now trying to smear the city of Cleveland and the state of Ohio."

The governor's charge of political punishment was termed "rubbish" by Harrington, who asserted the WPA had authorized 156,000 jobs in Ohio against 140,000 from sponsorship of local projects.

Owens asserted that relief needs were "great and the suffering severe in southeastern Ohio counties such as Athens, Guernsey, Perry and Scioto."

Marriage Illegal, Ruth Etting Wins Heart Balm Suit

LOS ANGELES—(INS)—Ruling that Alma Alderman never was legally married to Myrl Alderman, a superior court decision was on file today which held that Ruth Etting, the famous radio singer, did not have to pay $150,000 heart balm to Mrs. Alderman.

The decision, which attorneys for Mrs. Alderman said would be appealed "to the highest court in the land," was a new chapter in a quadrangular love tangle which included the shooting of Alderman by Miss Etting's former husband, Martin Snyder. Snyder's conviction of assault with intent to kill and the recent reversal of the conviction assuring him of a new trial.

After studying the evidence and testimony for five months, Judge Samuel R. Blake held that Alderman was not legally free to wed Alma when he married her in Tijuana, Mex., Jan. 9, 1935, one day after his former wife, Helen Warne, received an interlocutory decree of divorce.

Miss Etting and Alderman were married last December during Snyder's assault trial, both were state's witnesses against Snyder.

BYRD'S ON WAY

Admiral's Ships Expected To Be In New Zealand Dec. 28.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Officials here expect Admiral Richard E. Byrd's Antarctic expedition to reach New Zealand, Dec. 28.

The Byrd ships left Rapa Island Dec. 17 and were expected to cross the International Date line on Christmas day. How long Admiral Byrd expects to remain in New Zealand was not known definitely here.

Roosevelt Concedes Deficit of 3 Billions

Up and Down THE STREET

It may have been the Christmas spirit which motivated the act, but we prefer to believe it was done because the lad was "a little gentleman" . . . It happened on one of the buses Wednesday. An elderly woman boarded the bus, whose seats were all taken by men. A small boy of perhaps eight or nine very politely arose and offered his seat to the woman. . . . Were the men's faces red? . . . Not in the least!

Fishermen will not have anything on the hunters next year. They, too, will be forced to display their licenses, Mansfield agencies learned today with the arrival of the first shipment of tags from Columbus. But the anglers won't have to purchase tag holders like the nimrods. The holders will be furnished free to the license purchasers by the state. The fishing tags are about the size of a theater ticket.

Fire Chief Charles J. Seeburger was doing a bit of sleuthing of his own today—in search for a driver who skidded into a fire hydrant at Park avenue west and Arnold drive last night and then drove away without reporting the accident. Waterworks employes were installing a new hydrant today and the chief wants to present the driver with a Christmas present—a bill for about $100.

These new-fangled fasteners on suspenders may have their uses, but not for the Mansfield man who went downtown hastily this week to attend a function at the Mansfield-Leland hotel. He forgot his suspenders, wears no belt—and his trousers don't fit very tight around the belt. He dashed into a drug store and bought suspenders, spent ten minutes trying to fasten them to his trousers. He was good and late for the function by that time and so he pocketed the suspenders and showed up at the affair—with one hand entirely occupied in doing suspender service.

ASHLAND WANTS SHELBY CHIEF

Reports Indicate Coffey Gets Offer to Replace Fetzer as Police Head.

It was reliably reported today that LeRoy Coffey, Shelby police chief, has been offered the position of police chief at Ashland to succeed H. D. Fetzer, who will resign on March 20.

The offer, it was learned, was made by mayor-elect Howard S. Lutz, former Ashland county prosecutor who will take over the reins of the Ashland city government on Jan. 1.

Lutz however declined to comment on the matter today with the statement that he had "nothing to say."

"I don't take office until Jan. 1, and can say nothing official at this time," he declared."

Coffey declined to comment, although he admitted that he had been asked to consider the job. He said he had made "no decision."

Chief Fetzer at Ashland said today that he planned to retire from the police force March 20 when he will have rounded out 20 years of service and will be eligible for pension. The 66 year-old officer said he had "no idea" who his successor might be.

Coffey, a former Mansfield police lieutenant accepted the position as chief of the Shelby police department nearly four years ago. Since he has been in office the department has created a cruiser patrol and established a two-way radio station to raise the department efficiency to one of the highest in Ohio.

WRECK KILLS 70

German Christmas Travelers Die in 8th Recent Crash.

BERLIN —(AP)— Two passenger trains crowded with Christmas travelers collided in the station at Genthin today, killing 70 persons and injuring 100, German authorities estimated.

The wreck occurred when the Berlin-Neukirchen (Saar) express, traveling at top speed, plowed into the Berlin-Cologne train, which was making an unscheduled halt, about 1 a. m. (7 p. m., Thursday EST).

The locomotive and six cars of one train and four cars of the other were derailed.

The wreck caused the greatest loss of life of any of a series of German rail disasters, of which it was the eighth since the war began.

Six of the previous wrecks also were collisions. The seventh was a derailment caused by a rock slide.

James Tope, Ex-Bucyrus Telephone Worker, Taken By Death.

BUCYRUS—James Beldon Tope, 74, former employe of the Bucyrus Telephone company, died last night at his home here following a long illness.

Mr. Tope was born Nov. 11, 1865 at Dellroy, O., and was a member of the United Brethren church here. Surviving are his wife Frances, and three step-children, Mildred Rogers at home, David Rogers of Marion, Ill., and Donald Rogers of Akron. Services will be held at 3:30 p. m. Sunday at the Wise funeral home with Rev. Walter Purday officiating. Burial will be in Liberty Chapel cemetery.

NOT THEIR IDEA

Soldiers Prefer Turkey for Christmas, Leave Beans for Visitors.

FORT GEORGE WRIGHT, Wash.—(AP)—Tradition and beans are all right for visitors, but soldiers prefer roast turkey and trimmins at Christmas.

"But it's not our idea!"

NESS DEFENDS SAFETY COUNCIL AS WEAPON AGAINST SABOTAGE

(By International News Service)

CLEVELAND — Prevention of possible sabotage in industrial plants manufacturing goods for the government is the chief aim of the Cleveland Industrial Safety council, Safety Director Eliot Ness said today.

The plan, which has drawn heavy fire from the Cleveland Industrial union council, central CIO body, is in no way designed for labor espionage, Ness said, and no men identified with labor espionage groups have been employed.

As a matter of fact, Ness said, the plan hardly has progressed from the formative stage.

On the other hand, A. E. Stevenson, secretary of the CIUC declared:

"We have evidence that spying activities are directed against certain members of unions as well as certain unions themselves."

Although he refused to name specific instances, Stevenson said that espionage had been noted in Cleveland automobile parts and steel plants. He conceded, however, that the safety council might be seeking to prevent sabotage.

"That's entirely possible," Stevenson said, "but the structure created . . . hires the spies. The industrial spies are being supplied by agencies who have furnished men for labor espionage in the past."

Ness countered with the charge that Stevenson was not accurate.

"His statement is not true at all," the safety director said.

"No one having any identification with labor spying organizations has been hired," Ness asserted. "As a matter of fact the thing is just a co-operative venture with the naval intelligence."

PHYSICIAN DIES

Dr. Elihu Culbertson, Father of Ashland Judge, Was 83.

ASHLAND — Private funeral services will be held at 10 a. m. tomorrow at the Denbow-Bear funeral home for Dr. Elihu Culbertson, 83, father of Common Pleas Judge H. E. Culbertson, who died Thursday at a rest home in nearby Savannah. He had been at the home for the past three years. Burial will be in Ontario cemetery.

Dr. Culbertson was born Feb. 1, 1856 in Orange township, and practiced medicine in Ohio for more than 55 years with offices at Ontario, Havanna, Milan and Agosta. He attended school at Savannah academy, Wooster college, Western Reserve medical school and Poughkeepsie college, N. Y. He was a Chapter Mason and former member of the I. O. O. F. lodge.

Surviving in addition to Judge Culbertson is another son, Bruce W. Culbertson of Coshocton.

BOY, 14, STRICKEN

Jack Thomas Dies After Long Illness; Rites Tomorrow.

Funeral services will be held at the Finefrock funeral home at 3 p. m. tomorrow with Rev. O. S. Goerner, assistant pastor of the First Lutheran church, officiating. Burial will be in Memorial park cemetery.

ILLNESS FATAL TO INFANT BOY

Eight Months Old Son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Hartley Stricken.

David Austin Hartley, eight-months-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl P. Hartley, 107 West Park drive, died at the home today after an illness of two days.

His parents, a sister, Elaine; a brother, Lowell, and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Oliver A. Hartley of Columbus and Mr. and Mrs. John D. Bolesky of Mansfield, survive.

The body was removed to the Jones Memorial where services will be held at 3 p. m. Saturday with Rev. R. L. Foulke of Central M. E. church officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery.

BUDGET DRAFT WILL ASK FOR $9,250,000,000

Congress Message Expected to Forecast Revenues of $6,300,000,000 for Year.

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON — President Roosevelt was described by usually well-informed officials today as reconciled to a $3,000,000,000 deficit in the next federal budget in spite of an announced desire to limit it to $2,000,000,000.

When the president sends his annual budget message to congress the first week in January, these sources predicted, he will ask for about $9,250,000,000 of expenditures during the year beginning July 1, 1940.

At the same time he is expected to forecast revenues during that fiscal year of about $6,300,000,000, not counting revenue from any new taxes which congress might levy.

Whether the deficit will be slightly more or less than $3,000,000,000 depends on adjustments in preliminary calculations which the president, the budget bureau and treasury have yet to make before the big budget book goes to the printed next week.

Behind the scenes, the war has boosted some costs, particularly those for national defense, and has cut some revenues, such as customs receipts. But better business —some say this is also a war effect—has reduced certain costs, like relief, and has improved such revenues as income and excise taxes.

By spending less and taking in more, the deficit in the next budget may be about $800,000,000 smaller than the shortage for the current year, careful estimates are that the government will spend about $9,500,000,000 and take in about $5,700,000,000 this year.

The army and navy feel most comfortable. They are assured of increases which will boost the national defense total from about $1,500,000,000 this year to $2,000,000,000 next year.

But public works advocates are groaning under prospects of seeing their funds cut from $1,000,000,000 to about $500,000,000, including federal grants to states for highway-building.

NEARLY FINISHED

Sludge Drying Beds at Sewage Plant Ready Next Week.

Additional sludge drying beds at the city's sewage treatment plant, now under construction by street department employes, will be ready for use sometime next week, D. D. Orewiler, superintendent of streets said today.

Orewiler said planking would be finished next week and approximately 500 tons of sand put into the forms to act as a base for the sludge.

The project, started by the street department on Nov. 21, will provide 22,500 square feet of additional drying surface and increases the present sludge drying capacity about 40 per cent. Plant Superintendent James R. Turner said.

The construction work was financed by a $4,000 appropriation from a special PWA fund, authorized by city council.

ATTEND PARTY

400 Children of Moose Members Given Christmas Program.

A capacity crowd attended the annual Christmas party staged for children of members of the Moose lodge in its auditorium last night. Treats were presented to 400 children by Santa Claus.

Program specialties were given by Carl Griffith, Margaret Reed, Barbara Young, Mary Ellen Seeburger, Beverly Whittemire, Gloria Tracy, the Hart Sisters and John Grabler, who led group singing. Arthur F. Hilborn, governor of the lodge, was master of ceremonies.

FAIR ENOUGH!

Pegler Ponders Puzzling Questions on Communists And What's Legally What

—By WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK—A very interesting but embarrassing question will be dumped in the lap of some unfortunate judge one day soon. Let us take a hypothetical case of a man who has been called a Communist in the print, but claims that he is no such thing, and sues for libel.

The first point would seem to be: What is a Communist?

On this issue, those who stoutly profess to be Communists have been unable to agree. They are divided into many bitter sects, each claiming that all the others are imposters or heretics.

Most of them were comrades together in the past, but fell to fighting, as Communists will, over questions of doctrine or program, and the old-timers among them have been squealing confidential matter in an effort to discredit one another.

Most of the revelations produced by the Dies Committee consisted of snitches by men who had taken part in various villainies against the United States, but said nothing about these activities at the time, and even now are blowing the whistle only for revenge and not in contrition or for love of the American system of government.

* * *

But it would be comparatively simple to weigh the claims of these snarling groups and recognize one as the legitimate Communist organization. That problem is easy compared with those which would still remain. It must then be decided whether actual membership in that particular group must be proved in order to justify the accusation. And it must be determined whether it were libelous to call a man a Communist. Would it be an accusation?

It is my understanding that it is no offense to believe in Communism. Therefore, to call a man a Communist by mistake would seem to be merely an error, and a pardonable, even justifiable, error if he had made speeches or followed a course suggesting such a belief.

Up to now, even membership in the organization which calls itself the Communist party is not illegal. This may be changed if it be shown that the Communist party is an agency of the Soviet government, meddling in the domestic affairs of the United States in violation of the terms on which this government recognized Moscow.

If that should come to pass, then membership in that party would be reprehensible but the question would no longer concern a man's beliefs, but rather his adherence to a foreign conspiracy against the United States. It would be a question of conduct, not of belief.

The Communists — to give them all, of various sects, a name just for convenience—are agreed on only one point, and that one a contradiction. They all claim to be the true Communists, but they all agree that to call anyone a Communist, even a real one, constitutes Red-baiting and thus Fascism.

* * *

On their part, all of them are glib with accusations of Fascism, which they hurl at almost everyone who disagrees with any of them on any point.

And not even the actual Fascists of the various strong-arm groups which profane the name of Christianity with their evil propaganda, borrowed whole from Hitler, are more cruel or dishonest in their slanders and imputations than these radical groups of the left.

Their press is as vicious as the Fascist press, and when they deplore the fomentation of hatred by the Fascists they use exactly the same methods themselves.

Not for judicial purposes, but for personal guidance of the individual, there is only one workable process.

Persons who associate themselves with the hate groups of the miscalled Christian Front, even though they do not admit membership, are commonly regarded as Fascists, and nobody more readily condemns them on this circumstantial evidence than the Communists and those with a high degree of tolerance for Communists.

By the same process, those who persistently associate with Communists will have to put up with a general suspicion that they are Communists themselves. It is not a precise method, but it is the best one that has been worked out to date.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—If your friends all tell you that you look like this movie star or that and ought to come to Hollywood, here's sound advice: run, don't walk, as far as possible in the opposite direction.

A pretty, talented girl from Denmark came to Hollywood, equipped with a contract in advance, and languished for months at 20th Century-Fox studios. All she did was pose for publicity pictures. And the reason? The studio had a girl from France named Simone Simon, who got there first and was already working. Osa Massen, although not at all like Simone Simon in personality, and much prettier, was considered too reminiscent of the other girl. Osa didn't work until Simone left town, and until she went to another studio. You saw her in "Honeymoon In Bali."—and you'll be seeing more of her—even if Simone returns.

Robert Cummings doesn't even look like Lew Ayres. There is, however, some similarity in "type" between them. Cummings spent a term at Paramount, getting his hopes set on certain roles, only to have it happen time after time. Lew got them. The biggest role he had there (he discovered later) was his only because Ayres didn't want it. Cummings had to make a fresh start at Universal (Ayres had moved to Metro) before he got places.

* * *

Only one thing, actually, is making Linda Darnell's rapid rise possible. That is the fact that, some months ago, Loretta Young wearied of staying at one studio and decided to pick her pictures as she liked them. Along came Linda, who is the "Loretta Young type," to step into her roles, both of which have been Young-ish. Had Loretta stayed, Linda would have been waiting yet.

You sing, and think that might make a difference? Consider Allan Jones. Jones has a fine voice, and is a better actor than Nelson Eddy can ever hope to be, but that didn't keep Jones from being muffled (and practically hidden too) by Metro which held the contracts of both. Nelson, like Simone, was there first, and the Eddy-MacDonald team was established in fan favor. Jones had his chance once, in "The Firefly," and made good at it, but he was immediately squelched again. He had to break loose and go to Paramount, where "The Great Victor Herbert" ought to make Metro feel pretty sad.

* * *

Dennis Morgan, another fine singer, had a double personality obstacle to fight. Also a Metro man, he had not only Eddy but also Jones to hurdle before he could be heard—and he wasn't until he went to Warner Bros. He's one of those up (there must be thousands of them) for "The Desert Song," in which he can unloose all the warbling he had to bottle up at Metro.

And consider the aspirants to the throne of the great Temple, Shirley. At least a dozen blue-eyed, curly-haired tyros have made a bid for a place there, and not one has remotely touched her.

Well, are you still headed this way? But don't say you weren't warned!
